HIS wonderful remedy is prepared in combination with that most valuable Antiseptic and Bactericide Formaldehyde which is attracting so much attention in the scientific world. It is a universal, neverfailing Ointment to be used wherever a salve of any kind is needed.

The reason why a sore does not heal is because the atmosphere is alive with germs which feed on diseased tissue and keep it irritated and foul, thus preventing the healing process. The reason why any remedy is called healing is because of its ability to destroy those germs and allow nature to assume its normal condition.

Formaldehyde is one of the greatest germicides known. Germs of any kind cannot exist where there is the slightest trace of it. It is upon this fully demonstrated scientific fact that we base our statement that

CURES COLDS

HAT'S what we claim for it, and that is what it will do every time. Now, when we take into consideration the fact that Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Consumption and all affections of the throat and lungs are usually the outcorre of a cold, then it is self evident that whatever will cure or prevent a cold will usually prevent those other and more terrible diseases.

...Abell's Cold Cure

To cure Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Croup and that dread monster, Consumption, if taken in time and used according to direction. "Procrastination is the thief of time," and that insidious cough if allowed to continue will invariably overcome the strongest constitution and result in Consumption and a premature grave.

Always keep a bottle of Abell's Cold Cure in the house and upon the first indication of a cough or cold begin taking it according to directions and you will invariably prevent it becoming serious.

If you will bear in mind that a dose or two of Abell's New Cathartic Tablets at the beginning of the treatment will relieve the system of merbid secretions, you can greatly hasten your recovery.

This remedy is for sale by all up-to-date Druggists. Do not allow them to substitute any other "just as good" because it has no equal on the market.

Trial bottle to be had for the asking at your Druggists.

CONSTIPATION

S THE cause or source of half the ills or diseases which human flesh is heir to. It causes Sick Headache, Biliousness, Indigestion, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Foul Breath, Dyspepsia, Piles, Sallow Complexion, Loss of Appetite, Torpid Liver, Depression of Spirits and Creates that "Tired Feeling." The different organs of the body do not perform their proper functions and the body is constantly being poisoned with the morbid secretions that should be thrown off with the waste of the body.

Examine your feelings closely. Have you not some of these symptoms? If so remember that

Is the only sure remedy giving prompt and permanent relief. It is a veritable "God send" to suffering humanity, being composed of purely vegetable ingredients and comprising a gently acting Cathartic together with a general system tonic.

We feel safe in saying that it is the best Cathartic known and the only sugar coated Cathartic Tablet made.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

SOUTH HAVEN

BY C. DEW. BROWER.

South HAVEN probably derives its name from the fact that it is south of Grand Haven. So far as can be learned, the name was given it by the government surveyors at an early day. The name at the first covered adjoining townships, and, in fact, almost all the northwest part of the county. Judge Jay R. Monroe was the first white man to take up land. Born in Surrey, N. H., in 1806, he emigrated to Detroit in 1826, and to Prairie Ronde in 1830. In 1833 he set foot in South Haven, taking up the property along the lake just south of the river mouth and extending some distance east. This was the original village plat, the northeast corner being the present southwest corner of Phoenix and Center streets. Mr. Monroe built a log house near the shore, the first building in the history of the village. A family named Thomas was placed in the house. A child born to Mr. Thomas was the first birth in the new settlement, and township, and its death not long after was also the first. A family named Fink lived there during 1836, then Henry Monroe, brother of Jay R., followed the Finks as resident for a few months.

The property soon passed into the hands of Kalamazoo and New York parties. In September, 1836, Mr. Monroe married Miss Fanny Rawson of Massachusetts, and in 1837 settled in Lawrence township. His children living and well known here are Charles Jay, Andrew H., Isaac, Lyman S., and Mrs. Eunice Moore. Clark Pierce who had settled on his present place east of town on the Bangor road in 1838, helped Louis Booth build the first frame house on the site now occupied by Rev. A. E. Ketchum, being the northeast corner of Erie and St. Joseph streets. This house was built in the interest of the company who had bought Mr. Monroe's land, and whose concern it was to have some representatives of their advertised city on the spot. Booth was agent of the company. It was occupied by Clark and Mrs. Pierce and their two sons, A. J. and Irving, they moving in in July, 1845. The Pierces remained in the house till the next April.

Historical Sketch of South Haven.

This first frame house was a notable edifice, not only because it was the first, but also because it served as a home for different families from time to time, and especially because it was a most hospitable retreat for travelers and prospectors, and finally any straggler. Among others who occupied it after Clark Pierce, were a Mr. White, Dr. Camp, and a Mr. Branch who came from the East in the interests of the company who had bought Judge Monroe's land. In 1847 a Hollander named Shawfinch moved in, then another Holland family in 1848. These families suffering with sickness and there being no neighbors, Mrs. Charles Hamlin of Hawkhead and Mrs. Timothy Mc-Dowell of Casco proved themselves such by coming daily, riding horseback or walking, for two weeks, to minister to the sick.

Daniel Pierce came in from Schoolcraft with the first horse team as early as 1836. He built a cabin south of town, having purchased land of Mr. Monroe. He was a trapper, and caught many wolves for the state bounty of $13.00 each, securing in 1838 thirteen scalps. He was the only man in South Haven territory who voted in that year.

South Haven at the beginning and for several years, was an unbroken wilderness, the forest primeval. Few if any Indians lived here, but they frequently visited the place, stopping on their trips up and down the lake. Pioneers remember their coming, with as many as a hundred canoes at once, and a family in each canoe. They would beach their boats or, going up the river, land, to visit springs and maple bushes near A. S. Dyckman's present home. When the colony of whites grew larger, the Indians came to sell baskets and other manufactures. They belonged to the ancient Pottowottami tribe.

For a long time deer and other game were in abundance. When the Forest house was built, venison sold for two cents a pound, and appeared so often on the table that the boarders conspired with the nimrod who supplied it regularly to purchase his stock and throw it in the river.

The timber was chiefly maple, beech, whitewood, elm, pine, with a sprinkling of hemlock and oak.

In the early years of the settlement large expectations were held that South Haven would be the center of a great carrying trade from the inland, across the lake, and a road was laid out in 1834 or 1835, by Mr. Monroe and Chas. Cross of Bangor, from this harbor to Big Prarie Ronde, the grain producing region of Kalamazoo county. But the railroads sweeping around the lake into Chicago, interfered with the realization of this plan. In 1835 the same parties laid out a road to Paw Paw.

The first Fourth of July was celebrated in 1849 when Clark Pierce, a Mr. Wood, and C. B. Gross came with their families from their homes east of town and dedicated the place to American independence.

Rodney Hinckley built near the lake shore in 1835. Isaac Hinckley came within a few weeks of being the first white child born in South Haven. He is still a resident of the village.

Alpha Tubbs and his brother Nelson came with their families in the spring of 1852. That year notice was sent to all settlers in the surrounding country and as a result about one hundred gathered to celebrate the Fourth of July and feast together. A roasted fawn graced the tables.

In 1853 the census of South Haven was as follows: On the north side of the river, living in a log house near the present home of H. M. Avery in the park, H. C. Wells and family and near them Hiram Ormsby, also occupying a log house. Alpha Tubbs, Nelson Tubbs, and Samuel McLellan were living on the same side of the river. A little further north Clark and Samuel Sheffer, who came in 1852-53, were on their present places about a mile north, where S. M. Trowbridge had helped the latter fell the giants of the forest and erect his log house. Still further nor 't was Timothy/McDowell and family.

On the south side of the river the census taker would have found Ai Blood, father of Mrs. A. S. Dyckman, who with his son built the house now owned by A. C. Walterhouse, editor of the Tribune, 109 Michigan avenue, finishing it in 1851. S. B. Morehouse, a native of New Jersey, having moved in from Albion with his family, occupied the Blood house from January to August 1852, and then built for himself on the present Mackey property. His daughter Hattie is Mrs. C. J. Monroe, the other daughter is Mrs. A B. Chase. Horace Thomas was living just across on the south side of the road, Joseph Sturgis and Frank Gray were not far away and this completed the list of inhabitants in the immediate vicinity. Smith Dyckman and Fred Van Wagoner came in February, 1853.

In 1854 Col. William Hale and Uzziah Conger came from Phoenix, N. Y., which gave the name to Phoenix street, and next year Colonel Hale's family, including William, Jerome, Homer, Harriet, (Mrs. George Bradley,) and Frances, (Mrs. William S. Bradley.) The mother, Amanda, known and loved as "Grandma Hale" is still living. John Stanton belongs to the same year, as does Marshall Hale. Mr. Conger became a member of the Dyckman, Hale & Co. firm. For twenty years the village had grown but little but now business and all other interests began to grow. A steam saw mill, with one upright saw, had been put up in 1850 for Marvin Hannahs, a tanner of Albion. It was built by Ai Blood, Horace Thomas, Joseph Sturgis, Hannahs' foreman, and Joseph Dow, coming by river from Jericho for the purpose. Joseph Sturgis ran the mill. A frame was also put up for Mr. Hannahs for a tannery, but the intention was never carried out, and the frame is now that of the warehouse which bears his name. A second saw mill was built in 1852 on the north side near the present brick-yards, managed by Tubbs, McLellan & Co., including Randolph Densmore. It was destroyed by fire in 1861. In 1853, E. B. Dyckman, J. B. Sturgis and A. S. Dyckman built a large steam saw mill where Prouty's warehouse now stands, the mill frame being that of the warehouse. The firm was known as Dyckman, Sturgis & Co. Two years later the firm was changed to Dyckman, Hale & Co., and in 1856, to Hale, Conger and Co., carrying on the same business. This mill company under its different names, though virtually the same, did much to build up the lumber interests of South Haven. Late in 1853 they began snagging the river for nearly twenty five miles to make an easy run for logs from the Dyckman & Co. pine lands. Hale, Conger & Co. sold to Dyckman. Rogers & Co., who bought their pine lands up the river. The business at this special point was carried on till after the war. George Hannahs, son of Marvin Hannahs, moved here At that time South Haven had seventy voters. in 1864. He owned for a time about all the original village plat, which Judge Monroe had first taken up, 147 acres, bordering the river for 1800 feet, along which be built docks. He engaged in a large lumber trade. Mr. Hannahs was the first president of South Haven village He was sent to the state senate in 1870. To return to earlier years however, in 1853 Liberty Bailey was under-brushing on his place for future crops of his "democratic apples." In February, 1853, A. S. Dyckman and Joseph Wagoner arrived with two wagons. They built a company store and Forest House. The supplies for the colony during 1853 came mostly from Chicago by the scow "Drew." Her cargo was unloaded by flat boats. Marshall Hale who was a member of the Dyckman, Hale & Co. and other firms, was a native of Vermont.

Marshall Hale closed out his business and went to California in 1872, calling his son, George N., who was in Schoolcraft, to take charge, which he did, retaining the firm name of "M. Hale & Co." [ames Hale, George's brother, and Daniel, a cousin, had interests in the business for some time after. John Mackey who came here in 1869 had been with Mr. Hale for some years, went into business with D. F. Moore in 1875. In 1886 Mr. Moore died. and the business since been has carried on Mr. Mackey. In 1857 Barnev Dyckman and Randolph Densmore built a tannery on the lowland just across the river from the present railroad station, which was in operation several years, and near by J. H. Davis made bricks as early as 1853 for Hannahs' mill and started a brick-yard.

Running east and west by the post-office is a lane called Quaker street. The dock by Packard's warehouse has long been known also as Quaker dock. A story attaches to this name which ought to be perpetuated. In 1857 a Quaker named Hallock came from New York City to South Haven and bought land at the dock which bears the name. He drove spiles, built the dock, got out quantity of timber and prepared to build a large warehouse and store. He had purchased a vessel in New York, and loaded it with goods. Coming safely around by the lakes, as she approached this harbor, a heavy storm drove her past, and she wrecked near St. Joseph and the machinery and goods being lost or damaged, Mr. Hallock returned to New York.

The first boat to make regular trips to Chicago was on duty in 1853. It was named "Lapwing," a small schooner with carrying capacity of a dozen cords of wood. The crew consisted of Captain Mitchell and a boy.

Old residents speak of the winter of 1857 as one severe. Provisions had to be brought over rough roads from Decatur, and at one time there was little to eat in town, and little money to buy it with.

John Williams owned the first livery turn-out, and took the young people to lyceums and spelling schools in a "Gee-haw-ously" manner, as the "Eletonia," a paper published by the literary society, expressed it. The conveyance was a bob-sled, and the motive power Devonshire cattle who trotted off like horses.

The first church to be organized was the Congregational, the date being July, 1856. The meetings were held at first in the Forest House hall, then in the school house. Rev. Nathanael Grover was the first pastor, being ordained to the ministry in the hall mentioned.

School interests had not been overlooked, and a frame building, about 18x24, somewhere near the site of the present Roman Catholic church, was built for a school and opened with seven pupils in 1852, the first teacher being Miss Marilla Barnes, adopted daughter of S. B. Morehouse, commonly called Ella Barnes. A year after a log school house was built on the North Side, close to the large pine tree in the sidewalk before the original Avery Beach resort. Amanda Haynes was the teacher. Her sister, Lucinda, taught the South Side school, succeeding Miss Barnes. Both the Haynes sisters are now living in Lawrence.

In 1854 Samuel P. Wilson, a native of New York, settled here, teaching school on the North Side and elsewhere in the township for several years. He taught in the school house on the site now the northwest corner of Erie and Paw Paw Streets. Mr. Wilson in 1855-6, taught Emily Wells (Mrs. John Stanton), Miss Wagoner (Mrs. Letson', Amoretta Blood (Mrs. A. S Dyckman), George Hale, Henry and Hiram Wells and the Misses Morehouse, (Mrs. C. J. Monroe and Mrs. A. B. Chase), and some others.

After the holiday vacation of 1858 the school was moved into new quarters where the central school now stands, an entire block having been donated for the purpose. It was of two stories, had one finished room, and its first teacher was A. S. Dyckman. The upper room was used for church services, theatricals, town meetings and other public gatherings. South Haven had also, for a time, a select private school, for some dissatisfaction arising in the district school, the parents started the other under the care of F. S. Atwell, now a lawyer at Dowagiac. The first school in the southeast part of town was taught by Martha Grover in a cabin at Maple Grove corners in 1863. She had fourteen pupils.

The first wedding in the township was that of Leland Spencer and Miss Ella Barnes, at the home of Mr. Morehouse, who, being justice of the peace, performed the ceremony for his adopted daughter.

In 1853 the first hotel was built, called the Forest House, on the site now occupied by the Citizens Bank. The landlord was J. S. Wagoner, who had previously kept a boarding house on the opposite side of the street. S. B. Morehouse was the first merchant. Dyckman. Hale & Co. had a store on the corner of Center and Phoenix streets, erected in 1853.

In 1855 W. H. Schroffle settled here. Charles and George Gibson in 1857, and James L. Reid, Daniel G. Wright, who became a partner in the Dyckman, Hale & Co. firm, came in 1855. Adam Eames was another settler before 1860, as was George Breed. John Williams located here in 1861, and about the same time Henry Hurlbut, locating a mile east on Phoenix street. William H. Hurlbut has been here off and on since 1840.

In 1856 Samuel H. Foster, Dr. Charles M. Lee and George W. Wallace were here. William Hurlbut came in 1840. C. H. Wigglesworth some years later. Dr. William Hewson settled here with his family in 1866. His son Elston I. Hewson and daughter Belle (Mrs. M. H. French are well known residents. Dr. Hewson was one of the founders of the First Baptist Church and its pastor for a number of years.

In 1841 an effort was made to establish a mail route from South Haven to Schoolcraft. The mail carrier took the contract to deliver the mail once a week, but failing to find any postmaster here on his first trip, gave up his work.

The post office was established about 1852, Joseph Sturgis was the first postmaster, and was soon succeeded by his deputy, S. B. Morehouse. B. H. Dyckman was third. Then followed S. B. Morehouse, Daniel G. Wright, B. H. Dyckman, William E. Stewart, Charles Delamere, E. S. Smith, Albert W. Earle and E. S. Smith (1894-98.)

A. H. Chandler was the first lawyer, and William B. Hathaway the first physician.

A private bank was started in January 1868 by S. B. Boardman and A. T. Penniman, soon succeeded by S. B. Boardman & Co. In May, 1870 "The Bank of South Haven" was organized by S. B. Boardman and C. J. Monroe, to be chartered as the "First National Bank of South Haven." July, 1871. In 1890, it was changed to The First State Bank, under the provisions of the new state law, with C. J. Monroe, president, H. W. Williams, vice president and Lyman S. Monroe, cashier.

In 1893 "The Citizens S'ate Bank" was organized with George N. Hale, president, C. J. Hempstead, vice president and L. E. Parsons, cashier. The present president is W. S. Bradley, R. T. Pierce, vice president.

South Haven has always been a marked literary center. As early as the winter of 1856-7 the first literary society was organized, at the home of J. S. Wagoner on Broadway, by the light of one tallow candle. This organization was called "The South Haven Literary Club." S. B. Morehouse was president and A. S. Dyckman secretary. This society was the beginning of the literary society which has continued till the present day, now meeting Wednesday evenings in the Literary building. Mrs. C. J. Monroe, daughter of the first president, and A. S. and Mrs. Dyckman, have been members from the very first. Late in the eighties an "Antiquarian Society" was organized. Prominent in its membership have been H. J. Edgell, Captain and A. S. Dyckman, Augustus Vorhees, Dr Ransom, W. H. Hurlbut, and Joseph Lannin. The organization and meetings are still maintained. In 1881-2, Mrs. Geo. D. Carnes and Mrs. George Rogers met at their homes to read books together. Inviting others to join them, the ladies meeting to read were Mrs. A. S. Dyckman, Mrs. Henry Avery, Mrs. Charles Delamere, Mrs. H. E. Dewey, Mrs. Carnes and Mrs. Rogers and a few others. Mrs. Dyckman was president of this organization. The reading was largely from Scott's works. In 1884, at the home of Mrs. Dewey, the ladies organized as "The Scott Club," with Mrs. Delamere as president. From that day to this the society has grown and prospered until the present roll contains 129 names. Mrs. R. T. Pierce is the president. These different societies were in the habit of meeting at the homes of the members, the Scott Club also holding meetings for awhile in the Congregational church parlors. The Literary society finally bought a lot. The Antiquarian society took a half interest, then finally, the Scott Club was taken into a one-third partnership, and on the lot corner of Phoenix and Pearl streets Literary Hall was erected, costing about $4,000, although another thousand might be added if the labor donated be considered. A. S. Dyck:nan was a prime mover in this enterprise.

Historical Sketch of South Haven

The first newspaper was the Sentinel, started by D. M. Phillips in June, 1867. At the end of the first year he sold to Dr.S.D.Tobey, who after three months turned the paper over to Capt. Wm. E. Stewart, who had been foreman almost from the beginning, and editor and proprietor ever since.

The Record was started about 1880 by a number of citizens, jay Densmore being the editor. The Messenger was next introduced with A. N. Brown as editor, in 1881-2. It was bought by Rev. R. S. Dean and M. A. Barber in 1883. The latter became sole proprietor in 1884, and Dr. O. A. Dean became editor and publisher in 1891. In 1894, E. S. Thompson started the "Index," and the "News" in 1895. February, 1897 The Tribune was started by A. C. Walterhouse, as editor, under the firm name of the "Tribune Printing Company."

Peaches had been cultivated at Benton Harbor and St. Joseph for some time when it was discovered that South Haven was even a more favorable locality. Clark Pierce east of town and S. B. Morehouse in town soon had seedling orchards, the former about 1850. He was probably the first to produce seedling fruit in this vicinity. Timothy McDowell was also cultivating the fruit north of town. A. S. Dyckman was the first to set a large orchard for commercial purposes, which he did in 1859. The honor of making the first shipment, though a small one, belongs to a woman, Mrs. S. B. Morehouse, whose husband not caring to attend to the cultivation and gathering left it to her. This shipment was made in the fall of 1860, and was sent to

R. V. Pond of Madison, Wis., netting Mrs. Morehouse seventeen dollars. The fruit was raised in the garden on the angle formed by Phoenix street and the deep ravine, the point now occupied by Bosquet's market, and extending some distance west and south. Geo. B. Pomeroy made the crates for these peaches by hand, so that he can be credted with being the first fruit package manufacturer.

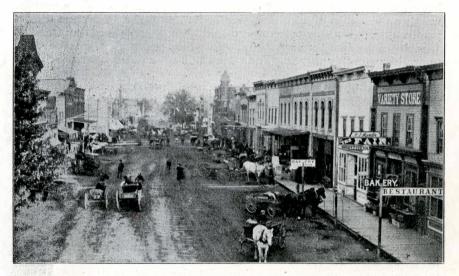

No historical sketch, however brief, would be complete without reference to the Pomological society organized in January, 1871. The first president was Norman Phillips, and the vice-president C. H. Wigglesworth; secretary, C. T. Bryant. This society has furnished two presidents for the state society—A. S. Dyckman and T. T. Lyon. Besides the continual value this organization has been to the fruit growing community in general, especial mention must be made of the fact that in the winter of 1874-5 it presented a petition for a law applying to Van Buren, Allegan and Ottawa counties, authorizing the proper commissioners to destroy peach trees infected with the yellows, and authorizing the seizure of infected fruit. This law was passed, and to the meeting of the state Pomological society held here in 1877 is due the state law embodying the same provisions.

S. B. Morehouse planted South Haven's first apple orchard on his place on the north side, now known as the Ketchum farm. The land was cleared in 1852, and the orchard was set the next year. In the earlier years of the peach culture there were no one-fifth baskets, but baskets were used holding almost twice that quantity. Baskets were obtained from Dowagiac, where they were woven, and later from St. Joseph and Coloma, until about 1879, when the manufacture began here.

In 1882 R. T. Pierce settled here, buying out the business and continuing it under the firm name of R. T. Pierce & Co. Later H.W. Williams bought an interest, and the name is now Pierce-Williams Co. In 1896 nearly 2,000,000 crates and baskets of all kinds were made by this firm. The best prices ever received for the fruit were in 1873 and 1874, when six baskets sold for from $12 to $15. But there were sometimes poor prices in the earlier years, as occasionally now. Before the seventies baskets sometimes sold for twenty cents. Frank Boyne, the liveryman, in 1859, when Mr. Dyckman was putting in the first large peach orchard, was showing a stranger "Whose place is that?" inquired the visitor, pointthrough town. ing to the unfinished residence of the fruit grower. "That's an asylum," was the reply. "Who have you got in it?" inquired the stranger. "A man crazy over peach tree planting," said Boyne. It was not so very long before the mania had infected the entire population, and from that day to this it has only gained in its contagious power. There was some reason for it. The fruit was pleasant to look upon and good for food, but there was another side. In 1873 this same A. S. Dyckman shipped 20,000 baskets of peaches, realizing therefrom $12,000, one Chicago merchant doing the buying. That same year the extreme cold of January had killed the crop for

Historical Sketch of South Haven

Benton Harbor and Grand Haven, and Saugatuck, while an early December cold had killed the St. Joseph crop. South Haven escaped with but small loss. Two years later, 1875, one of the coldest winters known in this part of the state was experienced, and trees as well as fruit were killed at many points. South Haven being situated in a bight of the lake seems more favorably located for peach farming than adjacent and perhaps more boasted territory. The "Yellows," which wrought such havoc at Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, brought loss to South Haven, but the last named place, taught by her neighbors' disaster, learned how to check and overcome the evil before it was too late, and has since presented to the peach growing world an object lesson on how to master the dreaded disease.

In 1896 the number of baskets shipped from this point approximated two million, but the receipts were small owing to low prices, although the year before that the receipts would approach half a million dollars.

A chapter could most appropriately be entitled "South Haven in the War." Prompt response was made to the call for men. In August 1861 William McDowell, Wm. Broadwell, John Halesy, Thomas Palmer, Orlando Voorhees and Thomas Wilson enlisted and were assigned to the Sixth Michigan infantry, with rendezvous at Kalamazoo. In September, 1861, Henry Chatfield, Augustus Voorhees, Barney Dyckman, Joseph Dow (killed in action at Farmington, Miss.), Cornelius Byce, Joseph G. Van Dyck, Ronald McDonald, Marcus Dawson, and Henry Wells joined and helped make up Company C, Third Michigan Çavalry. The company consisting almost entirely of Van Buren county boys, was mustered in at Grand Rapids one hundered strong, and saw service from that time until March 15, 1866, when paid off and mustered out at Jackson. They operated mostly in the southwest with the Army of the Tennessee helping in the seige of Island No. Ten. Toward the close of the war they were sent to the Mexican border. During their term of service over two hundred men were recruited to fill vacancies in the company's ranks caused by disease and wounds. A large number of veterans of the war have settled in South Haven and vicinity since, and Zach Chandler Post, G. A. R. now numbers 90 on its roll.

The volunteer bounty fund raised by tax from 1865-67 amounted in all to $5,387.17.

The evolution of the steamboat and railroad business from the small beginnings of the "Lapwing" on the lake, and blazed ways through the woods on shore, is of special interest. Sailing vessels supplied the demands until something better was called for. Steamers ran up from St. Joseph to get fruit along the shore. The "Skylark" was one, the tug "Edmunds", another. The "Ira Chaffee" came down from Saugatuck on her way to Chicago.

The first boat really owned here and on regular passenger duty was the Huron, about 1878, owned by George Hannahs and George Hale, who had also run the lumber barge "Monitor" for awhile. Then the Mary Groh, owned by Hannahs & Snyder, did passenger, lumber and fruit duty. She will go down to history as the staunch craft that, under the management of Captain David Morris, weathered the Alpena storm of October 16, 1880.

Charles Delamere, who owned the present Williams docks, brought the "Riverside" from Detroit, and then the "Grace Grummond." Freight on peach baskets was then a shilling. Mr. Delamere also put on the "Trader." The "Metropolis" followed, and Captain Mitchell put on the "Huntress." H. W. Williams of St. Joseph had put a boat on for a season in 1885, but retired, to return two years later to build the "H. W. Williams," and put her on regular trips. Then followed the Glenn, and the "City of Kalamazoo" built here in 1892, which with the "Lorain L." made up the Williams fleet. While the "Williams" was being built Thomas Waters ran the "I. M. Weston," between here and Chicago. Mr. Delamere sold all his dock property to Mr. Williams. In the summer of 1897 the "City of Grand Rapids" was put on by Chicago and South Haven parties under the name of the The South Haven and Chicago Transportation Company.

In 1870 the call for railroad connection with the outside world became so strong that money was raised by public subscription to run a branch road from Kalamazoo. It is still an independent road, leased by the Michigan Central Co. for 99 years. The road was completed in 1871, with George L. Seaver, first ticket agent. The Toledo and South Haven railroad afterwards known as The South Haven and Eastern, but locally as the "Narrow Gauge," was put through from Lawton in 1887. The work of broad gauging this road is now in progress.

About five years ago the Central road was persuaded to take hold of the fruit trade, and since then has done much of the carrying. In 1897 a large ice house was built just north of the M. C. depot, to afford facilities for icing cars at this point, the expense previously being $12 per car.

The Life Saving station was built under the direction of S. F. Garfield in 1887. The first person in charge was Captain Cross, for one year. The second was Captain John McKenzie, for five years. Captain Lew Matthews has been in charge since 1893. The station is fully equipped, and has done gallant service.

By act of legislature, passed January, 1869, this village was incorporated, but the law was found to be so imperfect that reincorporation was made in 1871, under the corporate name of the "Village of South community, has been the stand taken on the temperance question. In 1891 South Haven with the rest of Van Buren county adopted prohibition under the provisions of the local option law, and this most beneficial law has since been maintained, the village giving 172 majority for the law at the election of October, 1897. South Haven is a village without saloons.

From the time when Daniel Pierce cast the only vote, to the seventy voters when George Hannahs settled here, there was slow growth, but though slow the growth was healthful as it has been steady and healthful since. South Haven has suffered from no extravagant booms. In June, 1884, the population was 1,504, in 1890, 1,924, in 1894, 2449. Conservative estimates based on votes cast at recent elections and other estimates give the village a population of 3,500 in 1898. The township vote cast at the last presidential election was 973. The vote for village officers in 1897 was 507. The township vote on local option, October, 1897, was 914.

The development and extent of the resort business is of special interest. About twelve years ago Mrs. H. M. Avery entertained friends who were so pleased with the place and people as to return another season, with others. The house was enlarged, then another built, to accommodate the visitors. Other homes were opened, and soon the "resorters" were looked for, and came in increased numbers. Figures based on the railroad and steamboat business two years ago, showed a visiting list of 40,000, and it was estimated that 1897 would show almost a third more. The number of resorters staying here at any given time would be large. Adepts in evolution will trace the progress of this feature of South Haven's welfare more minutely from the day when Clark Pierce and his neighbors celebrated the Fourth of July on the beach in 1849.

In bringing this sketch to a close the writer would acknowledge with sincere thanks the assistance kindly given by Hon. A. S. Dyckman, Mrs. C. J. Monroe and many others. He would also disarm criticism as far as possible, by stating that the purpose was to give but a sketch of the history of the village, tracing the main points of interest from the beginning. Necessary limitations of time and space have prevented a more complete work. Seeming omissions in the foregoing pages will be found to be supplied in many cases by the biographies and historical sketches in other parts of the directory. Any corrections or additions of interest would be welcomed by the writer for use in a possible more elaborate effort.

CITY WATER WORKS AND ELECTRIC LIGHTING STATION-HARBOR IN THE DISTANCE.

Previous to Sept. 19, 1890, the fire fiend of South Haven had apparently been satisfled with one building at a time, and his demands had not been very frequent, but on that date he claimed eleven buildings situated on the northeast corner of Phoenix and Center streets, and it was a question of only three or four hours until they were his. The only fire apparatus at that time being a hook and ladder truck, with two small Babcock extinguishers and buckets. The water supply was wells and cisterns. This serious loss and unprotected conditions created considerable fire protection talk, but resulted in no definite action. July 27, 1891, twenty-two buildings on the corners of Broadway and Phoenix streets were reduced to ashes and ruins in a few hours. This made talk that resulted in action, and the village council submitted to the voters the question of raising $7,000 for fire protection. This was voted down, the people saying nothing but water works would do. In November, 1891, the question of borrowing $35,000 for water works was submitted and carried. The following April, $5,000 additional was voted.

Early in 1892 contracts were let for two steam pumps of 750,000 gallons daily capacity each, with the necessary boilers and building to pump water from Lake Michigan into a stand pipe fifteen feet in diameter, 100 feet high, located in the central part of the village, and distributed through about six miles of water mains to sixty-three fire hydrants.

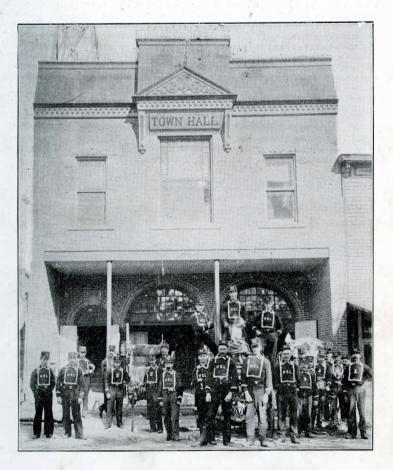

Water was first supplied through this system in July, 1892.

The water is filtered through large strainer pipes six to nine feet below the surface of the sand on the bottom of the lake. Extensions of street mains have been made since, and now (January 1898) there are eighty-three fire hydrants and about nine miles of water mains.

Good evidence as to the quality of the water is that there are 525 taps in the mains supplying private consumers, and analysis proves it to be excellent.

South Haven was first furnished electric light September, 1, 1894, by Geo. W. Furbeck, of Oak Park, Ill., who started a 1000 c. p. alternating dynamo at that time, and furnished lights to private consumers until April, 1895. Then the people voted to raise $10,000 for an electric light plant, consisting of a 1000 c. p. alternating and a 50 c. p. arc dynamo, which commenced running June 29, 1895. The street lights were seven arcs on the business streets and eighty 32 candle-power incandescent lamps, making a good light at nearly every street corner in the village. The demand from private consumers was such that in 1897, the 1000 light alternating dynamo was exchanged for a 2000-lighter.

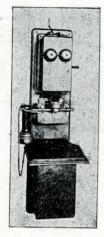

TOWN HALL AND FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The South Haven Fire Department was organized, October, 1888, with hook and ladder, Babcock fire extinguisher. and buckets, with Wm. Moore as Chief of the Department. This Department did good work, although sometimes laboring under great difficulties. In 1892 the city put in Water Works, and purchased two hose carts, and a new department was organized, with two Hose companies and one Hook and Ladder company, Dell Miller, Chief.

The company was well organized and did the best of work at all times. In 1893 Mr. Miller resigned his position, and Mr. Frank Wheeler was appointed to fill the vacancy. While Mr. Wheeler was chief, there were a number of fires, all of which were promptly handled. After Mr. Wheeler's resignation, E. I. Hewson was appointed Chief, and Mr. George Beak, Assistant, he having held the office since the company was first organized. Mr. Hewson was very successful in handling the Department, who always did the best of work at fires. On account of business Mr. Hewson and Mr. Beak resigned in 1895. Mr. Geo. Beebe was then appointed chief and E. W. Edgerton assistant. Mr. Beebe held the office longer than any of his predecessors, always giving the best of satisfaction to the city officials and to his men. He held the office until Dec. 1, 1897. Then he resigned to accept a position as traveling salesman on the road. Up to this date there have been a number of very bad fires, including two steamboats, all of which have been promptly extinguished, for which the department deserves great credit, never allowing any fire to spread from one building to another. Dec. 1, 1897, E. W. Edgerton was appointed chief and E. C. Derhammer assistant. South Haven can boast of having as well organized company as in any city of its size in the state. and as brave men as ever fought fre.

OAK TELEPHONE CO.

Previous to 1895 South Haven had no Telephone Exchange. In May of that year a franchise was granted to O. E. Harmon and the exchange commenced business September 1st with fifty phones installed. Soon after, the Oak Telephone Co. was organized with C. J. Monroe, President; O. E. Harmon, Treasurer; and H. E. Dewey, Secretary and Manager. The plant was turned over to the Co. Nov. 1st, 1895, and has now more than 150 phones, giving good service and is connected by outside lines with fifteen towns and hamlets in this part of the state.

The Telephones and Switchboard were made by the Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Mfg. Co. of Chicago, whose apparatus is equalled by few and excelled by none.

OPERA HOUSE.

This well known and popular place of amusement was erected by L. A. Leighton Esq. in 1879. It is fitted up with good stage and all modern conveniences and has a capacity of 500. In 1882 it was sold to M. V. Selkirk. Afterward a half interest was sold to A. Stedman. In 1891 it passed into the possession of Mr. James Selkirk the present owner. The stage has been occupied by such entertainments as given by the Chicago Opera Company. The house has echoed the eloquence of such men as Ex-Governor Rich, Senator Burrows and Theodore Tilton; and such women as Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Belva Lockwood and Ann Eliza Young. Here the good people have been entranced by the music of Remenyi and laughed at the droll impersonations of G. Paul Smith. It has been the center of South Haven's dramatic interests and the hub of its political world.

CHURCHES of SOUTH HAVEN.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

This was the first church organized in South Haven, the date being July 2. 1856. The following persons constituted the council: Rev. H. A. Read, Home Missionary agent; Rev. T. Jones, of Galesburg; Rev. Edward Taylor, of Kalamazo; Rev. A. Rowe, of Lawrence; Dea. Mills, of Galesburg. The following individuals assented to the articles of faith and entered at the Lee, from Phoenix, N. Y., and Mrs. Joseph Dow, on confession of faith.

Dr. Lee was chosen Deacon, and Samuel Foster, clerk. For a time meetings were held in the Forest House hall; then in the school house; then in a chapel built under the pastorship of Rev. David Wirt, in 1867.

The present commodious and handsome building, corner of Phoenix and Pearl streets, was erected under the pastorship of Rev. E. A. Paddock, and a town clock was placed in the tower, at a cost of $1,000. The dedication service of the new building was held, November, 1878. The parsonage on Pearl street, a block south of the church, was built during Mr. Brower's pastorate, being ready for occupancy in 1895.

M. E. CHURCH.

About May, 1852, Rev. Mr. Doughty preached the first Methodist sermon in the home of S. B. Morehouse, South Haven, and in 1855 the Rev. Mr. Colwell came on this circuit. In this year the first Methodist class was formed, in which Jared P. Breed, Sarah, his wife, and Jessie L. Lane were among the early members. From that time until 1865 but little information is obtained except that the circuit was supplied by Revs. Pendlan, Van Wyck, and Berry, and that South Haven belonged to the Decatur charge. The circuit then included the following appointments: Decatur, the red school house between Decatur and Lawrence, Lawrence, Breedsville, Lull's school house, and South Haven. In 1863 the circuit was divided, and Lawrence was made the head. In 1865, at the annual conference held at Albion, presided over by Bishop Ames, South Haven was made the head of a circuit, which included South Haven, Casco, and Geneva. Then, South Haven was in the Niles district, with Rev. H. Penfield, presiding elder. While South Haven belonged to the Decatur charge, it had preacting only every two weeks, and the circuit being large, two preachers were necessary to supply it.

In 1865 Rev. W. M. Paddock was appointed preacher in charge at the Albion Conference. When he arrived he found but twenty-live members, without a church or a parsonage. The first Quarterly Meeting was appointed for Jan. 20, 1866, but, on account of a severe storm, and the sickness of the elder, the meeting was not held. The second Quarterly Meeting was held March 3, 1866. The presiding elder was Rev. H. Penfield, the preacher in charge was Rev. W. M. Paddock, with the following members: John Brewer, local preacher, Moses Welch, W. W. Sly, Levi C. Phelps, John F. Doty, and Philip Hoage. At the end of the first year seventy-five members were reported. During the second year Bangor was annexed to the charge, and Horace Hall was appointed presiding elder.

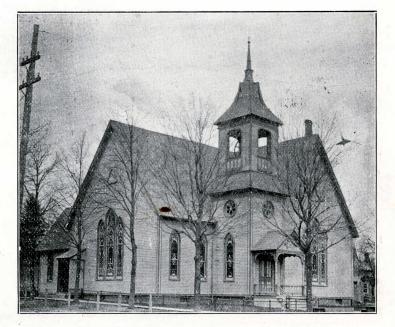

In the year 1866, the first Methodist Church was commenced at South Haven. Rev. O. L. Kellogg was appointed pastor in 1868, and in 1869, Rev. J. H. Richards was appointed. He remained one year, and in 1870 was followed by Rev. A. R. Boggs. His pastorate was marked by an epoch of the church. In the year 1871 he became engaged in a whiskey war, and as a result, on May 11th of that year the church was burned to the ground. But, nothing daunted, the brave pastor and his heroic people took immediate steps to rebuild. At the conference held in September, 1871, Rev. Mr. Boggs was appointed to Decatur, and Rev. W. B. Holt was stationed at South Haven. But on account of the seeming necessity of the case, the presiding elder changed the appointments, and Rev. Boggs remained at South Haven. On February 4, 1872, the new church was dedicated by Revs. Dr. Reid, of Chicago, and Dr. Perine of Albion. Mich.

In 1872, Rev. J. W. H. Carlisle followed Rev. Boggs, remaining two years. During his pastorate the church came near burning again, the fire caused by a defective flue. It was damaged to the extent of about $200. It was however promptly repaired, and the tower of the church completed. In 1874, Rev. O. S. Mechesney was appointed, the charge placed in the Kalamazoo District, and Rev. H. C. Peck became presiding elder. Rev. Mechesney remained two years.

The following pastors followed each other with uneventful years, the church growing with great rapidity. In 1876, Rev. H. H. Parker was appointed, serving two years. In 1878 Rev. W. A. Hunsberger was appointed, followed by Rev. M. D. Carrel, and Rev. J. E. White, in succession, each serving one year. In 1881, Rev. A. E. Ketchum was appointed to the charge, followed by Rev. Geo B. Kulp, and Rev. A. F. Ferguson, each serving three years During Rev. Ketchum's pastorate the parson-age was bought. In 1890 Rev. O. H. Perry was appointed and served one year.

In 1891, Rev. S. C. Strickland was appointed and served the full term of five years. During Rev. Strickland's term, the church was enlarged and greatly improved and beautified. Something over $3,000 was expended. In 1896 Rev. W. J. Hathaway was appointed, and is the present pastor. At the conference of 1896, the charge was made a station. It now has a membership of over three hundred, having had a wonderful growth. Its future is full of promise

President-Grace Moulthrop.

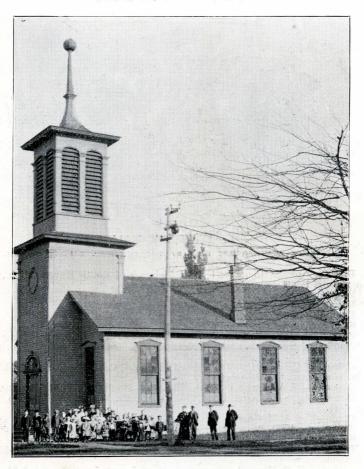

The Emmanuel Baptist church was organized on January 17, 1897, the organizers having withdrawn from the First Baptist Church on January 11, 1897.

On February 1st of the same year the church adopted a Covenant or Articles of Faith and Rules of Practice, and on April 21. 1897, a council having been called with a view to recognition, after due consideration the church was duly recognized as a regular Baptist Church, at which time its membership was 58, and on Febuary 7, 1898, its members numbered 110.

For some time after its organization the church was without a pastor, but the pulpit was very acceptably supplied by students from Kalamazoo College and by ministers from elsewhere, but finally the services of Rev. Dr. Perrin were secured as a pastor. He has proved to be a tower of strength not only in the church but also in the community.

Peace and love dwell within her walls and prosperity are the fruits of her efforts.

The German Evangelical Lutheran St. Paul's Congregation, corner Michigan avenue and Paw Paw street.

Services every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. Sunday school after morning service. A German and English parochial school is connected with and maintained by the congregation. C. Bast, pastor.

The congregation was organized about fifteen years ago by Rev. B. Merz, who was followed in the pastorate by Rev. Wenning. Early in 1888 Mr. A. Schoenberg was called as pastor and has remained in connection with the congregation about six years. After his resignation Mr. C. Bast, the present pastor, was called and followed the call in July, 1894.

The Church building on Michigan avenue was bought from the Baptist Church society in 1888. In 1894 the present parsonage, corner of Paw Paw and Monroe streets, was purchased; and in 1895 the school building on the adjoining lot was erected.

The association numbers at present forty-four voting members and about one hundred and thirty communicants. The number of pupils in the parochial school is at present forty-eight, with the pastor as teacher.

LITERARY HALL. "SCOTT CLUB BUILDING" COR. PHOENIX AND PEARL STREETS.

The South Haven Scott Club was organized in April, 1884, when its meetings were held in the parlors of a few progressive ladies. The reading of Scott's works was their first effort, thereby suggesting the name of Scott Club, which it bears. It was incorporated in April, 1894. Its fine stone building was then in progress.

The object of the club has b en a progressive one from its first inception, and it is now the nucleus of all literary work in the village. Its program for this year includes literature and art, science and education, music and miscellaneous topics, biographies, current events, and all topics of the day. Its social days and annual banquets are m morable events. Its membership is now over one hundred and includes the best of talent. The Club has united with the "State Federation of Women's Clubs," and is now two-thirds owner of their beautiful stone building on the corner of Phoenix and Pearl streets. The interior, on the second floor, is finished with oak with two fine mantels in the parlors, and which is heated by a furnace Two beautiful windows, containing Sir Walter Scott's, and Henry Longfellow's portraits, cost nearly two hundred dollars each; one, a gift from Mr. Bates of New York, the other from the South Haven business men. The building is justly the pride of the village. The regular meetings of the Scott Club are held on Tuesday afternoons, from 2 to 4 p. m. Opening the first Tuesday in September, closing on the second Tuesday of June.

SOUTH HAVEN PUBLIC SCHOOL.

The first school in the village of South Haven was taught in the summer of 1852 by Miss Ella Barnes.

The school house had been built in the spring of that year and was located about one block south of where the Catholic Church now stands.

The building was of the old fashioned kind with benches serving for seats. The apparatus was limited to a small black board.

The first school consisted of seven pupils among whom were Mrs. C. J. Monroe, and Mrs. A. B. Chase now of Sioux Falls.

As the town grew, better accommodations were required and in 1858 what is now known as the old part of the present building was erected. This building served as school house, church, and lyceum. The west addition was built in 1872.

The school gradually increased in numbers until in 1880 it was graded by Prof. Burkett. The first class consisting of Maude Loveday and Edward Cain, was graduated in June, 1881, under Prof. A. E. Ross, who had taken charge of the school the fall preceding.

Prof. Ross was succeeded in 1885 by Prof. R. H. Gulley, who, after three very successful years, was followed by Prof. A. D. DeWitt.

Prof. DeWitt served two years after which the present superintendent, Prof. A. D. Prentice, took charge of the school.

In 1886 the south addition containing two rooms was built, and three years later, what is now known, as the new part was erected.

The enrollment of the school keeping pace with the growth of the village made it necessary to use all the rooms available in the whole building. Accordingly the old parts built in 1858 and 1872 were thoroughly overhauled, and veneered with brick, in 1897. The building as it now stands is second to none in appearance in this part of the state.

Since the first grading of the school, there have been 123 students who have completed the regular course of study.

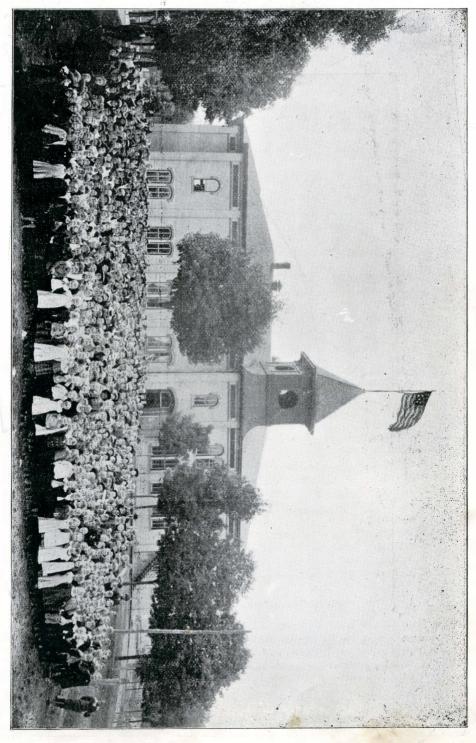

The present class ("98") now numbers fourteen.

There are two regular courses of study in the High School, one consisting of the English studies usually found in High Schools of like grade, the other including the foreign languages Latin and German.

The total enrollment at date (December, 1897 is 750 pupils, 149 of whom are enrolled in the high school.

The present Board of Education is A. H. Cook—President. E. I. Hewson—Secretary, Volney Ross—Treasurer. Mrs. Lucia Ludwig. Mrs. M. H. Bixby.

South Haven Sketches.

Sate of

THE SOUTH HAVEN and CHICAGO TRANSPORTATION COMPANY. Daily service between south haven and chicago.

In the summer of 1896, there being a very large crop of fruit in South Haven and vicinity, Captain Joseph F. Smith, an old resident of South Haven, engaged in fruit carrying between South Haven and Chicago, with his steam barge the "Myrtie M. Ross" and received the support of a large number of prominent growers and shippers of fruits.

Captain Smith, noting the very strong support given him by the shippers of South Haven and vicinity and judging from the unsolicited expressions of sympathy tendered him from the start came to the conclusion that what the people of South Haven needed was another line of steamers plying between that port and Chicago, and forthwith proceeded to secure a suitable boat to begin operations with, the result being the organization of the South Haven and Chicago Transportation Company and the purchase of the steamer "City of Grand Rapids." Anyone acquainted with this steamer is fully aware of her staunchness and seaworthiness. She made her first trip May 17, 1897, and ran until October 20th, and while the season was not a prosperous one, on account of the failure of the fruit crop, yet the very strong support given the line by the fruit growers, merchants, resorters, and citizens of South Haven and vicinity, impressed her owners that another permanent line would receive their future substantial support. This line has come into our midst to stay and in view of this fact they should receive a share of our patronage, and as evidence of good faith in the matter they have spent considerable money on the steamer "Rapids" this winter adding additional state rooms, etc., which will tend towards the comfort of her patrons, as well as increase her passenger and freight accommodations. It is already an established fact that this line employs only those who are gentlemanly and courteous to all and we understand from the management that in the future closer attention than ever shall be paid to this important feature, so essential to the comfort and happiness of the lake voyager.

HON. A. S. DYCKMAN.

HON. A. S. DYCKMAN.

Hon. Aaron Smith Dyckman, of South Haven, Mich., was born in the county of Onondaga, N. Y., Feb. 26, 1826. He came with his father to Van Buren county, Mich., in 1838 and about four years later to Schoolcraft, Kalamazoo county.

He is of Holland, English and Welch extraction. His ancestors, the Dyckmans, were among the first Dutch settlers on York Island. His two grandfathers were in the Revolutionary army.

He was educated chiefly in what was called a select school, at Schoolcraft, and the old Branch University at Kalamazoo, taught by Dr. J. A. B. Stone and wife (now Mrs. L. H. Stone, Ph. D.)

In 1848 he engaged in the lumber business with his father, in Pine Grove, this county. In 1850 he went with the first great emigration over the plains to California, and returned by the Nicaraugua, called the Vanderbilt route, in the fall of 1851. In 1852 he explored the pine lands about the head waters of South Black River Came to South Haven in Feb., 1853, and in connection with his father E. B. Dyckman and others, immediately commenced the erection of the hotel known first as the Forest House, and the steam saw mill and other buildings, under the firm name of Dyckman, Sturges & Co. The year 1855 Mr. Dyckman spent away from South Haven, but returned in the fall and with his cousin, Barney H. Dyckman, bought lands near the village and set about improving them.

In March, 1856, he was married to Miss Amoretta Blood, of South Haven, formerly of Utica, N. Y., and spent the first summer in Chicago, moving back to South Haven in the autumn. During the winter of 1856-7 he commenced the study of fruit growing, and some years latter he had the first large commercial peach orchard in this part of the peach belt.

Mr. Dyckman as a citizen has been always public spirited, sometimes paying more than his fair share, in money and labor, for public improvements. He was a delegate to the first convention called by the Depdartment of Agriculture at Washington, for two terms President of the State Pomological Society, and for six years member of the State Board of Agriculture. But the bent of his mind seems to be toward literature and intellectual amusements, and he has taken great interest in building the higher social relations of the community,

HON. C. J. MONROE.

HON. C. J. MONROE.

Hon. C. J. Monroe is in many respects the leading citizen of South Haven. He was born in Lawrence, Van Buren county, Mich., November 20, 1839. Until his seventeenth year he assisted on his father's farm and attended the district school. About this time the State Agricultural College was opened, and he was one of the first students, being present on the first He remained there two and onedav. half years, when he was compelled to relinguish all study on account of his eyes. He then took charge of his father's land agency, and in connection with this he taught school and engaged in surveying. In 1867, in partnership with S. R. Boardman, Mr. Monroe opened the first bank in South Haven. In 1871 the First National bank of South Haven was organized, and he was made cashier, which position he occupied for four years. He was then made vice president, and the following year, president. In 1889 the bank was reorganized as the First State bank, and Mr. Monroe was continued as president. He organized the West Michigan Savings bank at Bangor, and was for many years its presid-He also organized the Kalamazoo Savings bank, and continues ent. to hold the office of president of that institution to the present day. In 1879 Mr. Monroe, realizing the need of a more thorough knowledge of law to aid him in his vast business interests, took a course in the law department of the State University at Ann Arbor. He is an energetic business man of public spirit, and makes himself interested in more features of public welfare, than any other man in this community. He lives on his farm near South Haven, and takes great interest in agriculture, especially fruit growing. He has been honored at various times by his fellow citizens, served as supervisor three terms, school inspector and county surveyor two terms.

In 1883 he was elected state senator, and served three consecutive terms, representing the counties of Allegan and Van Buren. As a legislator he was actively in the front rank, serving on some of the most important committees, and is the author of Michigan's state banking law.

Mr. Monroe has been closely identified with all improvements in South Haven. As a business man he is exceedingly industrious, systematic and progressive, a man who husbands his resources, gathers up the odds and ends which many others waste, and drives everything before him directly to success.

MELVIN H. FRENCH.

MELVIN H. FRENCH

Is a Maine mnn, born in Mt. Vernon in 1848. Came to South Haven in 1869, and for some years he employed his time in teaching school and working at common labor, such as work in a lime kiln and on a R. R. gravel train. He came to Michigan to regain his health, and he did it by such rough, out-door work as he could find.

For four years he was salesman in the store of M. Hale & Co.

In 1876 he entered business for himself, as member of the firm of French Bros., doing business in dry goods. In 1892 he built the structure now occupied by French & Hewson, and where he is to be found a first-class man of business.

Mr. French is conservative but progressive, enterprising and economical—in fact combines the qualities of a successful mercantile man. He not only knows how to lay hold of success, but how to hold on and conserve the elements that make success permanent. Uncertainties, however bright and promising, and speculation, however tempting, have no charms for him. If we may modestly affirm, here is a living example for many young men who are not making headway in the world, and who are wont to complain of their lot, to find fault with their environment and say they never had a chance to succeed. It did not look like good taste for a young man of refined birth, educated in Eaton Boys' school, Kents Hill, to work in a dirty lime kiln, or on a gravel train, but he did, and when better opportunities offered, he embraced them

Mr. French is considered one of the most substantial business men of the city, and has made for himself an enviable position in the esteem of all good citizens.

As a public man he is modest and reserved, but his words and suggestions carry the weight of genuine business wisdom.

He is in favor of public improvements, ambitious to see South Haven move to the front, as a wide-awake, progressive, moral city, worthy of the splendid people who inhabit the Peach Belt. In socia circles Mr. French is a cultured gentleman, friendly and open hearted, with a serene dignity that marks him the man of honor and intelligence.

JOHN A. DUNGILL.

JOHN A. DUNGILL.

In our cities of larger population than South Haven there are men who, if their personal history and struggles were known, it would put them in the front rank as geniuses. Such an one is the subject of our sketch.

John A. Dungill was born in Cass county, Mich., March 27, 1852, and in the then wild state of western Michigan, with neighbors few and far between, at the tender age of seven years was left motherless with two smaller children under his care. Even then he showed something of the abundant resources of his nature. For three years he was sole housekeeper, his father being obliged to often remain away a week at a time in his efforts to gain a livelihood. His efforts at housekeeping, washing, milking, making beds, and above all fashioning garments as best he could for the younger brother and sister, would shame many an older one of today. His first opportunity for schooling occurred when he was ten years of age. A farmer named Walker succeeded in having him bound out to himself, where for three winters he was allowed to attend school. When these limited privileges were ended he did not cease to improve his mind, and at eighteen he managed to enter the grammar school and pay his own way for two terms, when he was forced to leave for lack of means. Thirsting for knowledge, he continued to study as best he could, aided sometimes by private teachers, at others by generous assistance of scholarly friends. In 1872 he went to Kalamazoo, where he married Miss Alice Moore, who has ably assisted him in all his enterprises. Always of a serious and thoughtful cast of mind, he early came under religious influences, and at the age of twenty-two joined the A. M. E. church, and in 1875 was licensed to preach. since which time his natural gifts as a speaker has earned him the reputation as one of the best colored orators of Michigan, and a favorite with white and colored on the lecture platform. Although so limited in his early opportunities for mental culture, yet by hard study he has gained a reputation for scholarly attainments. In 1878 Mr. Dungill came to South Haven, and engaged in the barber business, and by a consistent life has won a wide circle of friends, and, indeed, enjoys the confidence of the entire community. He has, by strict application to business, gained a neat little home for himself and family. His acquaintance is not by any means confined to his own town, the colored masons of which he is a member having honored him at various times with positions of trust in both state and national councils.

E. I. HEWSON,

E. I. Hewson is a native of Beamsville, Ont. He came with his parents to Michigan in 1857, and settled at Almont. The father of the subject of this sketch was a well remembered and esteemed physician in South Haven for many years. Mr. E. I. Hewson entered the business world as salesman for Samuel Follet, afterward, for four years was in the employ of S. A. Tripp in a general store. Following this period he was salesman in the general store of F. I. Parks, afterwards known as Parks & Thompson. After the dissolution of this partnership he remained with Mr. Thompson.

His next venture was in partnership with E. J. Lockwood, as a proprietor of the old Chase news, stationery and confectionery stand in the post-office lobby. To this they added groceries and dry goods, moving this stock to the corner of Phoenix and Center streets. Lockwood sold to French Brothers. The firm afterward becoming French & Hewson, continued there in business until the completion of the new French building in 1892, when they moved into it and now have the finest and most commodious store in South Haven, and one of the finest in west Michigan.

Mr. Hewson served as collector of customs of the port of South Haven, was four years village clerk and holds that office now, and is now serving his fifth year as member of the Board of Education. He was a charter member of the Enterprise Club, and takes an interest in society, is fond of a bicycle, and a lover of out-door sports and recreations. As a business man he is not excelled. Jovial in disposition, friendly in manner, careful, systematic and accommodating. As a citizen he is wide awake to the best interest of the community, and is a warm friend to all wholesome public enterprises.

J. W. KENNEY.

J. W. KENNEY.

This progressive and voluminous business man was born in Oakville. Canada West. There he received his education. At fourteen years of age came with his parents to the United States and settled in Van Buren County, Mich. For some years he was interested in land and lumber near South Haven. For nine years he ran a stage line from South Haven to Covert and Watervliet, carrying mail and anything usually carried by a first-class stage line. Those who were acquainted with him in those days little thought that he would in a few years be the commercial King of one of the most progressive cities on the lake shore.

After disposing of his stage route he opened a small general store in the village of Covert, which he managed successfully for nine years.

In 1891 he moved to South Haven and opened a large department store in the building owned by Hon. C. J. Monroe on Center street. Four years afterward he bought this building and enlarged it by the addition on the rear. Mr. Kenney has the largest store along the lake. His main room is 100 feet square with the rear addition 30x100 feet. In this mammoth emporium he has stacks of goods of every description—a large dry goods department fully up with the times, a grocery department that supplies all wants even to a market of fresh meat, the largest boot and shoe department in South Haven, and a clothing department that is not surpassed. The store itself is a show such as few small cities can produce.

Mr. Kenney has by all odds the lead in trade for South Haven and at some seasons it is only limited by the ability to wait on customers who come where they can buy all they want from a fine bonnet to a farm wagon. He has saved the people in the vicinity of South Haven thousands of dollars by the system of low prices which he has successfully inaugurated and maintained.

Mr. Kenney is most ably assisted in all his business by his handsome and accomplished wife.

S. VAN OSTRAND.

H. VAN OSTRAND.

Spencer VanOstrand was born in Rose, Wayne County, New York. When very young he came with his parents to Michigan and settled at Albion. There he received his high school education under the tutorship of Lieut. Col. Greaves and afterward took a business course at Mayhew's Commercial college.

In 1866, he came to South Haven, and for three years was engaged in the lumber trade. After the decline of the lumber interests, Mr. VanOstrand saw in the location and climate of South Haven the probability of large future growth and at once laid plans for a home and business. In 1873 he began the drug business and with the exception of three years as railroad employe, has continued in it to the present time. Mr. VanOstrand is a man who pushes his business in every legitimate way, careful in his attention to all the details of management, watchful in purchasing and handling only first class goods. He is a radical and persistent advertiser and a progressive drug man. He comes of a drug family and inherits this ability in a marked degree. As the result of his talent, skill, good sense and enterprise he has built up a large and increasing trade reaching over a territory far beyond the limits of this community and has one of the finest stores on the lake shore. A glance into his neat and well appointed sales room shows it well filled with drugs and medicines, paints and oils, toilet and fancy goods, and an elaborate onyx soda fountain, said by traveling men to be the finest in Western Michigan, which in summer dispenses every nectarine beverage that can please the palate and invigorate the system of weary citizens. Resorters flock there in crowds and the "summer" girl long ago voted it a very "Paradise." Mr. Van Ostrand makes a specialty of medicine, in fact he is called "The Big Medicine Man." His store moreover is a complete pharmacy with all of the modern accessories. The building up of such a business and the holding in a largely increasing ratio the finest trade speaks in high praise of the talent and energy of the man.

Mr. C. H. Van Ostrand his son is an able and enterprising assistant in the management. He was born in South Haven in 1868, educated in the high school, has been in the store about ten years. He is one of the most promising of South Haven's young men, intelligent, pushing and faithful in all that he undertakes. He is social in his temperament, cultured and refined in character. He is a member of the South Haven Band and of Maan's orchestra.

W. G. PACKARD.

W. G. PACKARD.

W. G. Packard is one of South Haven's most successful young business men. He commenced life in this world at Glenn, Allegan county, Mich., in 1863. When seven years of age he moved with his parents to Covert. There he received the elements of his education. Afterward he attended Oberlin college, and later took a business course.

He engaged in business with his father in Covert and Benton Harbor, where they conducted a trade in lumber for six years. In 1890 he opened in the lumber business in South Haven.

He is the successor to the Packard lumber company, which at one time operated one of the largest lumber interests on the lake shore. Mr. Packard has a well located yard on river front, where he offers for sale a large stock of all kinds of lumber, lath and shingles, lime, cement, salt and wood, and purchasers are supplied at either wholesale or retail rates. He thoroughly understands the business, having grown up in it, and spares no pains to supply his customers at the very lowest prices, while his extensive knowledge of the country and intimate acquaintance with the people, together with his very friendly disposition and accommodating methods, make him a man with whom it is a pleasure to deal.

He owns a forty-acre peach farm four miles from the city, and considers it a profitable investment. He also owns a general farm of 250 acres, near Covert, and is largely interested in real estate in Benton Harbor.

As a citizen, Mr. Packard is public spirited and progressive, warmly in favor of all enterprises that look toward the growth of the city and the public good.

He is an aggressive member of the city council and is conscientious in performing his duty as a representative of the people. In society he is a cultured and courteous gentleman, deservedly popular without seeking it, and prefers to be regarded as only a plain man of business. He is a lover of all sports, is fond of good horses, and goes deer hunting once a year. The Packard wholesale and retail lumber business has had a rapid but substantial growth, in the brief time it has been operated. Those who contemplate building will find it to their interest to look over his stock and note his prices before purchasing elsewhere.

JOHN MACKEY.

John Mackey belongs to that noble race of Scotch-Irish or Hiberno-Gaelic that was cradled in the rough climate of north Ireland. Among the loughs and the downs in the vallies of the Main and the Lagan they battled with the elements of nature and thence scattered over the world, brawny of frame and of iron will, conquering and leaving their mark on every civilized land of modern times. In County Monaghan Mr. Mackey was born in 1843. He attend school a little in the city of Belfast and worked at common labor. In 1862 he came to America and for a time lived in Buffalo, New York. Then he moved to the oil country of Pennsylvania, and for about six years followed the trade of a carpenter.

He came to South Haven in 1867, and for a while was salesman for M. Hale & Co. He entered business for himself in 1873, with a small stock of groceries, on south side of Phoenix street. In 1885 he moved to his present site, and added a stock of hardware.

Mr. Mackey owns a forty-acre fruit farm, was instrumental in establishing the Foundry and Stove Works, is a director in the First State bank, a charter member and director in the Kalamazoo Savings bank, was seven years member of city council, and served three terms as the very efficient mayor of the city.

Mr. Mackey was cast upon the world while very young by the death of his father. He came to a strange land with little education and no money, and by strict attention to business has made a success in life, and is pointed out as one of the most conspicuous and successful men of this city. His record is an object lesson for the young man of like circumstances.

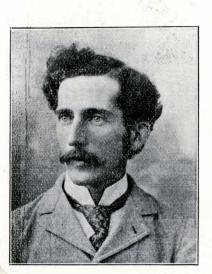

RAMSON T. PIERCE.

Ransom T. Pierce was born in St. Johnsbury, Vermont, September 17, 1848, was educated in the common school, came to Michigan in 1859, and lived on a fruit farm in St. Joseph, Berrien county.

At the age of sixteen he enlisted in the 156th Illinois regiment near the close of the war. He was connected with the army of the Cumberland and was employed in provost duty about New Orleans and other points along the Mississippi.

After the war he served as salesman in a hardware store, then for six or seven years was agent for the American Express Co. at Benton Harbor. In 1872 he engaged in the manufacture of fruit packages at Benton Harbor for nine years.

In 1882 he came to South Haven and started a fruit package factory where Winkle Brother's planing mill new stands. This factory was burned out and he rebuilt the present structure which he sold to Winkle Brothers, and bought and built where the present factory stands. The firm at first was Pierce & Tully. After four years Tully sold to H. W. Williams. The style of the firm thenceforth is known as the Pierce-Williams Company. Mr. Pierce is a stockholder in both of South Haven's banks and is vice president of the Citizens Bank, owns a farm in Casco, is a member of the G. A. R. and a Knight Templar.

Biographical Sketches of South Haven.

REV. W. J. HATHAWAY.

Mr. W. J. Hathaway was born in Blufton, Wells County, Indiana. When eight years old he moved with his parents to Minnesota, making their home on a farm near what is now the city of Faribault. It was then a frontier village and trading post. It was a gathering place for Sioux Indians. Mr. H. was thus made acquainted with frontier life. In 1861 the Sioux Indians made an outbreak and massacred large numbers of the whites not far from his home. Great excitement prevailed -almost every family in the neighborhood fled from their homes. Mr. H.'s father concluded to remain in their home. They made every preparation to repel an attack. All through the night they were on the alert. Next day they learned that the indians were being driven far to the west. So all felt safe. Mr. Hathaway's early life was spent on the farm. His early school advantages were very limited until he became of age. Then he entered the preparatory school of Hamline University, at Red Wing, Minn. Afterward he attended Carleton College, at Northfield, then he entered the Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., from which he graduated in 1877, taking the degree of A. B. He afterward received the Master's degree from his Alma He was converted at Northfield, Minn., and proposed entering Mater. the ministry. After graduating he united with the Michigan Conference in the fall of 1877. He was married to Miss Mattie T. Whitmer, of Sturgis, Mich., in October, 1879. In September, 1896, he was appointed pastor of the Methodist church here.

REV. C. PERREN.

CHRISTOPHER PERREN, PH. D.

Dr. Perren is an American by birth, a Canadian by breeding, and a member of both nationalities as regards his life work. He was born in Buffalo, the beautiful and prosperous city at the eastern end of Lake Erie. At that time, 1839, it had probably acquired little of its beauty and prosperity. And the Perren family did not wait to see it attain much of its present attractiveness, for when Christopher was but a child, they moved over to Canada. Here, at the age of fourteen, the boy who was later to become one of the best known Christian workers in the West, was converted.

He was ordained to the ministry in the town of Vienna, Ontario, in 1862, before he entered college. Seven years later he graduated from Woodstock College, now famous McMaster University, in both departments, arts and theology. Following this he received the degree of B. D. from Morgan Park Theological Seminary, and with the desire for still further equipment for service, pursued post graduate studies in the old University of Chicago, becoming Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy in 1884.

But during and in between these courses of study he was working away at his chosen calling enthusiastically and with great success. He occupied two pastorates in Canada of considerable importance, at Georgetown, Ontario, and St. Catherine's, in the same province. His work on these fields was productive of results gratifying, but not to be compared with those which followed. For it was as pastor of the Western Avenue Church, Chicago. that his most brilliant service was done. He came to that church when it was weak numerically and in almost every way. He remained there as pastor for seventeen years, during which time more than 1,400 members were received into the church, and it rose into prominence as one of Chicago's strongest bodies of Christian workers. In addition to that, from it have gone out mission churches, all or nearly all of which are now performing a valuable part in the work of evangelization.

In December, 1894, Dr. Perren resigned his pastorate, to become an evangelist. Dr. Perren is a noble, consecrated man, of great personal power and intense enthusiasm for his calling, and even greater success than has yet appeared may be predicted for him in his evangelistic endeavors.

In the spring of 1897, Dr. Perren purchased a farm near South Haven and in April accepted an invitation to preach regularly for emmanuel Baptist church of which he became pastor in October.

J. E. HOWE.

The Old Reliable is a name we often see applied to some responsible standard firm. Such indeed can be said of the Peach Belt Wholesale and Retail Nursery firm of A. Hamilton, and nowhere is reliability more necessary than when laying the foundation for that which after years of toil and waiting will either be a source of pleasure and profit, or a dismal failure. Thirty years of conscientious devotion to the needs of nursery stock, climatic and soil conditions, and above all a personal supervision that guarantees everything absolutely the best of its kind and true to name, has brought Mr. Hamilton from a small beginning to being at the present one of the largest wholesale and retail nursery firms in the west, having budded over six hundred thousand peach trees in 1896, and the sales so nearly equalizing their production that scarcely anything was left over. This firm cheerfully refers to its many patrons, having sold to many of the representative men of this section, and in each case to their unbounded satisfaction. Seven thousand trees were sold to Mr. Graham, representative to state legislature from Kent county, only one out of the whole number failing to fulfill its mission. In this section this firm numbers some of our best citizens, L. F. Otis, C. J. Monroe, and others, among its patrons.

Another potent factor in this firm's success is the class of men employed as agents. Mr. J. E. Howe, whose genial face appears at the head of this page, is Mr. Hamilton's representative at South Haven, and to him it can be said much of the success of the firm at this place is due. They have very largely increased their orders here in the two years he has been in their employ, until now their combined sales will equal if not exceed all others on the lake shore. Mr. Howe, while a young man, has given thirteen years to the sale of nursery stock, and it can be truthfully said, he knows a tree when he sees it, but he also knows a diseased tree when he sees it, and is able to point out to intending purchasers the faults that lie hidden in young trees offered for sale, thereby saving the customer the expense and vexation of setting a tree infected with black heart. Any one seeking nursery stock can do no better than to list their orders with Mr. J. E. Howe, South Haven, Mich. Or drop him a card and he will call on you.

In 1873, he moved to DeKalb County, Steuben County, Indiana. Indiana. He was married March 10, 1845, to Rachel, daughter of Daniel and Isabel McLaughlin, at West Unity, Ohio. They have had seven children. Only one survives-Grace, who marred Rev. C. H. Ticknor. Mrs. Porter died January 22, 1887. He came to South Haven, purchased a fruit farm where he now resides. While in Ohio and Indiana, he successful conducted a Claim Agency for Invalid Widows, and Minor Children for Pensions and Bounty Lands, growing out of the Revolutionary war, the war of 1812, the war with Mexico, and the various Indian wars. He has a Digest of all laws, decisions, rulings, and orders governing the adjudication of pension claims. He recently received a communication from the Hon. Commissioner of Pensions, showing that he has been an Agent in good standing since May 1st, 1868. Mr. Porter was commissioned Postmaster at Nettle Lake, Williams County, Ohio, March 21st, 1848. He was appointed Postmaster at Alvarado, Steuben County Indiana, November 29th, 1872. He was twice elected Justice of the Peace, was Notary Public twenty years. Mr. Porter served in several local positions of trust, such as Trustee, Treasurer, Clerk and Assessor, and has always given entire satisfaction.

H. E. DEWEY.

H. E Dewey, manager of the Oak Telephone Co., was born in the state of New York, came to South Haven in 1866 a partner in the lumber firm of Dickinson, Rogers & Co. In 1872 established a fire insurance agency which he still continues. Filled the office of village clerk several years, was township supervisor five years, during which time the first marked public improvement at South Haven, the substantial iron swing bridge across the river, was built.

In 1896 was succeeded by his son J. G Dewey as agent of the American Express Co. which position he had held for twenty years. Served as one of the village trustees two or three terms, was superintendent of construction of the water works in 1892, village president 1895 and during that year, in connection with O. E. Harmon, organized the Oak Telephone Co. which installed and his successfully maintained an excellent telephone exchange having at the present time more than 150 telephones in service.

W. J. VIALL.

W. J. VIALL.

W. J. Viall, another of the leading young merchants of South Haven, was born in Kalamazoo county, in 1872. Was educated in the common school.

He came to South Haven in 1887, and worked on farm and in basket factory, and in 1893 started in the grocery business on the corner of Eagle and Center streets. After two years there he moved to his present site. Mr. Viall has one of the best arranged and best managed stores in this city. He carries a large and well selected stock of all goods in the grocery and provision line, and a large stock of queens-ware and notions. The store is fitted with the Mansfield cash-carrier system, and he is ably assisted by a corps of talented assistants, who never allow a customer to wait long before his wants are supplied. Also assisted by Miss Fannie Sellors, who is his very efficient cashier. Mr. Viall has had a phenomenal success for one of his age. But the visitor to his store soon learns some of the secrets of his success.

He is a tireless worker, attending to the minutest details of the business personally. He sells none but the best goods He is exceedingly polite and accommodating, and appears at once to possess those talents that push business along to success. His store rapidly became the favorite provision house of South Haven, and even now, when stronger competition has come in, Mr. Viall still holds his large custom, and is constantly adding to it. The popularity of the house is evidently growing, if we may judge from the loaded delivery wagons that are continually departing for all parts of the city, and the increasing number of patrons from the country, and Mr. Viall still is considered the leading grocery man of South Haven.

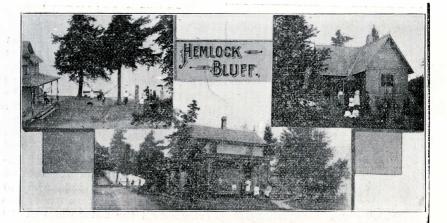

As a citizen, Mr. Viall is not behind any of his fellow townsmen in public spirit. He is in favor of progress, and is willing to do his part to make South Haven the most prosperous and best regulated city on the lake shore. As evidence of Mr. Viall's well deserved success in the mercantile line, he has just completed a handsome modern residence on Superior street, which is one of the most noted improvements in that part of the city. Biographical Sketches of South Haven. WE GROW OUR OWN FRUIT AND VEGETABLES. COLD SPRINGS RESORT.

Cold Springs is the most picturesque resort about South Haven. It has an imposing altitude overlooking lake Michigan, while at the foot of the hill Black river meanders in unruffled beauty. It is near enough to the sea to allow guests the luxury of bathing, while its proximity to the river affords the additional pleasure of boating and fishing. Boats glide with ease on the unrippled surface of the friendly river, and a day's outing on either the south or north branch, through playful rapids, over deep dark pools where fish sport in myriads and under overhanging branches of giant elms entwined with summer vines to rest and refreshment in the wild woods is a delight afforded by no other resort along the shore.

The building and grounds have been remodeled by the present proprietor, Mr. Gordon Ripley, the capacity of the former doubled by the erection of a noble and imposing facade and pavillion for entertainments. Mr. Ripley's experience at various resorts in different parts of the country has given him a keen perception of the needs of summer visitors, and he spares no pains or expense in his efforts to make his guests comfortable and their sojourn as delightful as possible.

The grounds about the boat house and spring are being arranged after the most approved style of landscape gardening, with lakelets of crystal water, booths of restful shade, winding walks that skirt the river margin and lead on to bowers of refreshing coolness. All this is done to make the place, in all its details, an Ideal Summer Home for those seeking rest and recuperation.

HEMLOCK BLUFF.

This well known and popular resort was opened in 1885, with a few guests in the family home, on cor. of Lake st. and Dyckman avenue. The patrons returned the following year, bringing their friends, and each succeeding season the number increased, requiring the enlargement of the residence and the construction of several cottages.

Hemlock Bluff entertains two hundred or more people during the season, with an average of sixty daily. The cottages are picturesquely situated on the commanding bluff of Lake Michigan, shaded by lofty hemlocks, and are fitted up with special reference to the convenience and comfort of guests. These during the summer are filled with a happy company of first class people from Chicago, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Kalamazoo, and other cities, many good people coming from Oak Park. Entire families have here spent the whole season for successive years.

The promoter and manager of this delightful retreat, Mrs. H. E. Dewey, nee Cornelia Gould, was born in New York State, not far from the famous Chautauqua Lake. She came with her husband to South Haven in 1866, when it was a mere lumber camp. Mrs. Dewey has earned the position she occupies as one of the leading women of South Haven. She was a charter member of the Scott Club, devoted to its welfare, and although her time is much occupied, takes an active interest in all good works that tend to improve society. Mrs. Dewey was among the first to open her house for the entertainment of summer guests, and by her ability, refinement, and generous hospitality, supplies a summer home that is a credit to her genius, and an honor to the city.

JOHN S, MALBONE.

JOHN S. MALBONE.

In the wonderful transformation through which this beautiful region has passed in the last twenty-five vears, few have contributed more than the subject of our sketch. In 1846, in the state of Ohio, John S. Malbone first opened his eves to the stern realities of this life. Born on the soil which has contributed so many statesmen, he early imbibed those moral principles that have materially aided him in achieving the success that has crowned all the enterprises of his active life. When eighteen years of age he left his native state for what was then the Far West, stopping at Fort Dodge, Iowa. It was while living there that he asked and gained the consent of Miss Rawson to share with him the fortunes of this life, and there again, as in all other affairs, no mistake was made.

In 1875 he came to Michigan, and settled on a farm on sec. 22 in South Haven township, where, by untiring industry he has carved out of the wilderness a fruit farm second to none in the state. In 1894, feeling that some other line of industry might be more profitable than tilling the soil, he came to South Haven and engaged in the hardware business, where by the exercise of the same sturdy principles of honor that had characterized all his former life he soon had a business equal to any in the city. Although a hard worker in the lines chosen he always took an active interest in all public matters, being twice honored by his fellow townsmen with public office, holding at the present time the responsible position of supervisor, serving at each session of the county board on important committees. As might be expected of a man of such sturdy principles, he has decided religious views and is now an active member of the First Baptist church of this city.

Feeling the weight of advancing years, he now offers for sale the beautiful farm which has cost so many days of arduous toil and around which cluster so many precious memories, that he may give his undivided time to his growing business in the city.

GEO. F. NOBLE.

Geo. F. Noble came to South Haven in 1895, to make candy for its people and he found that they appreciate good pure fresh candy, especially taffies, Paw Paw creams and carmels, which he makes as well as other candies, and takes orders for candies for weddings and parties when they will be fresh made. He also sells nut meats and fruit in their season. In the fall of 1897, he bought Guy Ashton's news depot and added to his stock of candies, and keeps everything in that line. Orders taken for any news paper or periodical at subscription price, which will save postage to subscriber. He is located at No. 308 Center street, South Haven.

JUDSON BAILEY.

JUDSON BAILEY.

Judson Bailey is a native of Springfield, Bradford County, Pa.; was born there in the year 1859 He came west with his parents and located in Casco Township, Allegan County, Michigan, in 1865. He worked on the farm until he was twenty-five years of age.

In 1884 he entered the business world as proprietor of the old Lake View House, now known as Hotel Clifton. after two years of business there he sold out, and opened the Occidental, lately known as Strong's Hotel. There he remained for two and a half years, when he again sold, and opened the Pacific House, which stood on the lot now occupied by the Williams block. After operating this house for three years he sold again, and went out of the hotel business. He spent a year in the wood and lumber business. He then purchased and managed the livery and feed barn now owned by David Reid. On the 9th of November, 1893, Mr. Bailey again took up the duties and troubles of a landlord, and opened the new and elegant Hotel Columbus. This he made the best furnished house on the lake shore. The house at once became popular, not simply because it was the largest and newest hotel, but because Mr. Bailey knows exactly how to entertain and take care of the traveling public. No one need expect to find in any hotel of similar class and location better dinners than Mr. Bailey's tables afford, nor himself any better cared for in every respect than at Hotel Columbus during the reign of Mr. Bailey.

After a management of five years, Mr. Bailey has severed his connection with hotel life, having sold Hotel Columbus January 1, 1898. He is now engaged in business under the name of the South Haven Feed Co., on Phoenix street, Mr. Bailey is fond of good horses and takes much of his recreation behind a good roadster, and is the proud possessor of a handsome black, Tariff, Jr., the best trotter in Van Buren County. He also is something of a Nimrod, fond of gunning, and keeps a good dog and other means for outdoor sports and recreations. Mr. Bailey is a courteous gentleman, one who makes many friends and few enemies. A public spirited citizen, a progressive business man.

THOMAS M. WHEELER.

THOMAS M. WHEELER.

Thomas M. Wheeler is a Wisconsin man, born in Waukesha County. October 10, 1844. He was educated in the common school of the country until eleven years of age he moved with his parents to Waterford, Racine County, where he continued to attend the distr ct school until he was seventeen years of age, when he was sent to college at Hillsdale, Michigan. There he remained two years. Returning home he worked on the farm until twenty-one. Having learned the art of repairing shoes, after his marriage he opened a repair shop on College Hill in Hillsdale. He conducted that business with success un. til 1869, til 1869, when he came to South Haven and opened a shop in "his own hired house" for the making and repairing of boots and shoes. The first pair of boots Mr. Wheeler made in South Haven was for John Mackey. He afterwards rented an unoccupied Daguerrean car, which stood on a lot west of the Hurlbut store building The first measure taken in that car was for a pair of $15 boots for Cal. Fletcher. After a few years he built a store and shop on the lot east of the Comstock grocery, and known as the Chapter lot. This building was 14x16 feet. which he afterwards enlarged to meet the demands of his growing business. In 1882 he sold this property and bought a store next east of the Tripp bank, and was there two years. In 1883 he took in as partner Mr. Volney Ross of this city, and bought the lot he now occupies, and in 1884 and 1885 erected his present business house. After nine years the partnership was dissolved, Mr. Ross retiring, when he enlarged his business from a mere repair shop to a store. He bought his first stock of goods of H. Cain of South Eaven in 1875.

As a citizen Mr. Wheeler is progressive and public spirited. Socially he is intelligent and entertaining, courteous to strangers, generous towards others, polite and agreeable wherever he is met, a man of culture and of refined tastes. He now has a fine shoe store on Phoenix street, near Citizens bank, where he keeps a full line of shoes and boots, and in connection maintains a first-class repair shop. He carries a stock of both wool and leather gloves and mittens of all grades.

WM. TALL.

WM. TALL.

Wm. Tall, Jeweler, was born in St. lves, Huntingdonshire, England, 1844. At fifteen was bound apprentice for five years to James Dumville, St. Ives. Mr. Tall is probably the only jeweler in west Michigan who has served such an apprenticeship or who has had such thorough training in practical watch-making. He still has his original indentures of apprenticeship on exhibition in his store which is a curiosity to everyone who sees it. He also served one year as improver in watch finishing in Huntingdon. This training in the days when all work was hand-work in England, then the most famous country for skilled workmen, places Mr. Tall at the head of the watch business in It is an assurance that this city.

mechanical work done by him is of the highest excellence and that his knowledge of the delicate mechanism of watches is beyond dispute. The man, who with his own hands has shaped and fitted the intricate parts of a watch under the eagle eye of a mechanical master and whose work has passed the inspection of the master mechanics in England must have advantages over others who have only learned the trade of reparing machine-made work. Hence we take pleasure in calling attention to the superior mechanical work done at the bench in Mr. Tall's store. He came to America in 1867, engaged in business as member of Tall Bros., in Waterloo, New York, being continuously engaged in the jewelry trade in New York and Pennsylvania, until his removal to the west. Having other business interests in Schoolcraft, Michigan, he removed to that place in 1885 and also conducted a jewelry business there until 1896 when he moved to South Haven, having purchased the business long and successfully conducted by H. M. Avery, Esq. Here Mr. Tall has met with his usual good success and is building up and maintaining a splendid business. For the past twelve years Mr. Tall has made a specialty of optical work, being thoroughly educated in optical science and a graduate of the class of 1890 Chicago Opthalmic College In this work Mr. Tall is very thorough and has had phenomenal success in his treatment of defective vision. His knowledge, skill and experience together with the best known scientific appliances for diagnosing errors of refraction have built up for him an extensive practice in this line of work covering a large extent of territory. Mr. Tall is entirely responsible, guarantees satisfaction in all business transactions and deservedly enjoys the confidence of the public.

CHARLES DELAMERE.

Charles Delamere is one of South Haven's oldest as well as one of its best known business men. He is an Irish American and an enthusiastic republican. At the age of twelve he went to sea and followed that occupation for many years. In 1855 he came to South Haven. He went to Missouri in 1860, and in the early part of 1861 was compelled to leave that state on account of his union sentiments. Upon his arrival in Michigan he enlisted in the Thirteenth Michigan Infantry, and under Gen. Rosencrans and other generals, experienced some of the most severe features of the Civil war. He carries his share of wounds as mementoes of the great conflict. He was recognized by the Government for special service, and was considered a daring and gallant soldier.

On returning from the war he again entered business in South Haven. He built and operated the first opposition dock and warehouse in the interest of the fruit growers, reducing the freight from a shilling per basket to eight cents. He chartered a steam boat for that purpose, and successfully operated for several years, gradually reducing the freight.

He bought and shipped the first car load of peaches sent from this city, and successfully inaugurated the home fruit market. Mr. Delamere has spent his energies in building up a trade with the great northwest, and as evidence of at least partial success, it may be stated that he bought and shipped from South Haven in 1896, 233 car loads of peaches to that region.

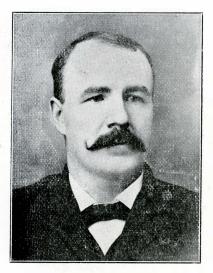

HONE OF CHARLES T. BRYANT

Charles T. Bryant was born in South Bend, Ind., in 1838. His father had gone there as a missionary for the Presbyterian church. Mr. Bryant enjoyed the unusual privilege of having for his Sunday School teacher the emminent statesman, Schuyler Colfax. Our subject early learned the value of self-reliance. At his majority he engaged in business for himself. In 1861 he enlisted in the Seventy-first Ohio Infantry. January, 1864, he re-enlisted and served to the close of the war, being promoted, for faithful service, to sergeant major.

In 1865 he came to South Haven, and in 1867 settled on the place he now occupies. He was a charter member of the Pomological society, organized in 1871, and served as its first secretary for three years. He was married to Miss Sarah Cox in 1872, and those entering her home finds themselves in an atmosphere of womanly grace.

The farm consists of eleven acres, compactly set to fruit. Twenty apple, 190 peach, 250 pear, 300 plum, cherry, quince, currant, gooseberry, raspberry and blackberry. Soil rich loam, high and rolling and tile drained. One and one-fourth miles from school and business center. Good view from house of city and lake. House is well built of bestmaterial, and consists of seven rooms, with cellar and outbuildings. Good wells of water and cistern. Price and terms will be made to suit customer, and will be made known on application. Address, Charles T. Bryant, South Haven, Michigan.

L. C. BISHOP

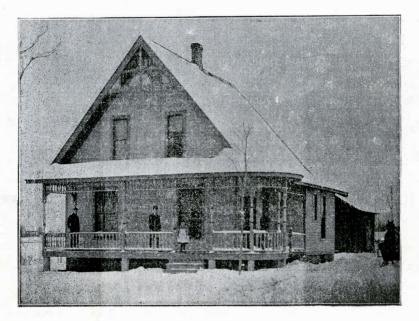

MRS. L C. BISHOP

L. C. Bishop came from the state of New York. His birth is recorded in the annals of Essex county. He came west with his parents and settled in South Haven in 1876. After coming to maturity he taught school fifteen years, and worked at the carpenter's trade when not otherwise employed, and displayed no little skill as a designer in architecture. Mr. Bishop is interested in the public welfare to the extent of his ability. He was for many years practically at the head of the Good Templars lodge. With his hands and tools he made the tables, altar, and other furniture for the lodge room.

In 1890 he launched out in the Steam Laundry business. With $200 capital he erected a small building, and with a little pepper box engine and an insignificant boiler began the business which has developed into its present large and profitable proportions.

Mrs. Cora L. C. Bishop is one of the leading business women of South Haven. She was born in Van Buren county, the daughter of Truman Barnes, Esq., of Lawrence township. In 1884 she was united in marriage to Mr. L. C. Bishop, and from the first has taken a deep and practical interest in her husbands affairs. From the commencement of the laundry business she has taken hold with a tact and power of control which has placed her as her husband says "at the head of it." To a stranger as he steps into the tidy office, the clean work rooms, and notes the convenient appointments of the establishment, there at once occurs the conviction, "there must be a woman at the head of this thing." Patrons of this industry may be assured that their goods are not abused, that costly and delicate fabrics receive the best attention which a woman's hands can give.

H. J. EDGELL.

H. J. EDGELL.

The subject of this sketch, Mr. H. I. Edgell, 15 well and favorably known as a resident of South Haven township for about thirty years. He emigrated to this place from Columbus, Ohio, soon after the close of the war. For seventeen years prior to this he had been engaged in mercantile pursuits and failing health rendering it necessary to change climate and vocation he purchased a timber tract and embarked in lumbering. Ten dollars per bushel was no unusual price for peaches in those days and induced Mr. Edgell with others to engage in fruit culture in which he was so successful as to secure several first premiums for superior merit in culture, location, quality, etc. In 1885, Mr. Edgell was incapacitated from farm work by a sunstroke and temporarily engaged in real estate traffic. At the expiration of one year he had built up a business which he deemed too valuable to abandon and he has therefore continued to devote his entire attention thereto. He has been instrumental in locating over one thousand families in the Michigan fruit belt. He spends annually more than one thousand dollars in advertising South Haven's attractions and is easily entitled to the position of leading real estate dealer of the northwest, a credit to the town he represents and to the hustling business fraternity of which he is a conspicuous member. Mr. Edgell has made it his rule to work for the interests of the purchaser and to give as much of his time and attention to the purchaser of ten acres or a town lot as the one looking for a larger farm and to this well known fact is largely due his popularity and great success. His energy and push, his talent as a business man, his intelligence and public spirit as a citizen, his frank and genial manner, his veracity and honor, and the large confidence of his fellow townsmen, his reputation abroad, place him at the head of the real estate business in all of west Michigan. It is commonly said that Mr. Edgell has done more to build and improve South Haven than any other man. His office is centrally located in the First State Bank building on Center street and is always open to those seeking homes and fine fruit lands or profitable farms. Socially Mr. Edgell is one of the most interesting and active men in the community. Reading. observation and travel have given him a broad intelligence which not only makes him successful in business but helpful and inspiring as a gentleman and a progressive citizen.

CHARLES E. ABELL.

CHARIES E. ABELL.

Charles E. Abell, South Haven's wide awake progressive drug man, was born in Newton Township, Calhoun County, Michigan, in 1868. He was educated at Battle Creek, came to South Haven in 1889, entered the employ of Dr Culver in the drug business where he remained nearly six years. He began business for himself at his present stand in 1895 and now has one of the best stores to be found in west Michigan. In addition to his large general stock of drugs and medicines he carries an immense assortment of sundries and fine notions, so that if you want anything nice in toilet articles, fancy goods, something real pretty and do not know where to find it go to Abell's, for his store is so full of everything that can possibly be associated with a drug store that it has the appearance of a bazaar. Mr. Abell carries the largest stock of proprietary medicines and patent remedies, those time-honored tonics, pain dispellers, sleep inducers that so many people cannot do without are all here in large quantities. Abell's is also the best place to buy confectionery as his knowledge of materials enables him to be a judge of the quality of such goods and customers are assured of pure articles in this line.

He is proprietor of the Home Remedy Company and has a large and increasing trade with other cities, employs salesmen on the road in order to supply the demand for these safe and useful medicines. His store is a hive of industry. If he is not needed behind the counter he is busy in the labratory or in the shipping room either preparing or sending large consignments of these reliable goods far and near in answer to orders. He also manufactures fruit syrups for soda fountains and has a large trade in this department.

Not by any means the least of his enterprises is the fine modern soda fountain that stands in the front of his store which in summer is always crowded with the weary and thirsty and where are dispensed those delicious and cooling beverages that have become so popular. Manufacturing his own syrups and juices he is able to guarantee their pure and harmless nature.

ARTHUR HARRISON.

Arthur Harrison, the gentleman whose face greets you on this page is a full-blooded product of South Haven. Born in this vicinity in the year 1873. His younger days were spent on a farm.

His first business venture was as a salesman for Dr. Comstock in a grocery and provision store. Afterward he was employed in the general store of U. Conger. Subsequently he entered business for himself in the building now occupied by Alvord harness works. After some years he sold his store and was employed as head clerk in the grocery department of the well known house of J. W. Kenney, remaining there three and a half years when he purchased the stock of groceries at the old stand of Hempstead Brothers. He has a fine location at No. 418 Phoenix street where patrons will find as fine a store and as well filled with choice goods as may be seen in the city. It is the largest grocery and provision house in South Haven and the enterprising young proprietor with his able assistants will not be anywhere surpassed in courtesy and honest dealing. Every article that goes over the county is guaranteed to be what is claimed for it. Mr. arrison entered this stand when the store was short on both goods and customers and with scarcely anyone present to relate the fact to the stranger who might wander into it. In less than half a year the trade had increased to a marvelous extent.

By his native energy, tact and ability, his honor as a citizen, his life long reputation, his square dealing, his courtesy as a gen leman, his affability as a salesman, his generosity and punctuality and his willingness to accommodate his patrons even at his own inconvenience, these coupled with his intelligence as a man, his public spirit as a citizen and his determination to succeed have brought the old store into a condition of prosperity perhaps never enjoyed before.

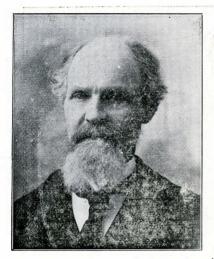

D. M. MILLER.

D. M. Miller the gentleman whose sketch covers this page was born in Monroe County, Michigan, in 1852. His early life was spent on a farm in the summer and attending the district school in the winter. In 1866 he moved to Bangor, Michigan, where he resided eight years. There he learned the trade of tinner.

In 1874 he moved to South Haven and worked for Moore & Mackey, continuing in their employ for eighteen years. In March, 1894, he started in business for himself at his present stand, as a tinner, plumber and steam fitter. He is a workman of unusual merit as has been acknowledged by those who have employed him. He did nearly all of the plumbing, and all of the tin, copper and sheet iron work on the rebuilt steamer City of Kalamazoo, and his work is on exhibition on nearly every steamer that sails from the port of South Haven. Mr. Miller has a store and work shop on Phoenix street. The store is full of such goods as belong to the plumbers trade, and he is prepared to fit throughout, any house with apparatus for steam or hot water heat. He will take contracts for putting in everything from a boiler or hot air furnace to bath tub and electric fixtures.

Another department of his work is metal roofing in which he is unexcelled, doing more of this work than any other house in South Haven. If anyone should ask what is Mr. Miller's specialty, we would say anything in the mechanical line of work in such metals as tin, copper and sheet iron.

He is a progressive citizen and considers the advancement of his city of the highest importance. He has served four years in the city council and is highly commended by his fellow townsmen for his honorable and conscientious deportment while in that office.

W. H. WILCOX.

W. H. WILCOX.

Among the many pleasant homes is which South Haven is so justly pted, none are more popular than the home of W. H. Wilcox. Mr. filcox was born at Lempster, N.H., March 12, 1840, where he spent the major portion of his boyhood.

When he was twenty-two years of ge he felt the call of duty, and ensted in his country's defense, in the linth New Hampshire infantry, here for three years he saw more ian usual active service. At the ittle of Spotsylvania, May 12, 1864, is regiment was detached from the uain line and sent forward the more quickly to support the second corps after their famous charge upon the enemy in the early morning of that day. While the regiment was thus separated from the rest of the brigade, and while the view was obstructed by the dense fog and standing timber, they came suddenly and unexpectedly upon a large force of the enemy, not ten rods away. Instantly the fighting became furious. Presently the enemy, seeing the isolated condition of the regiment, advanced with fixed bayonets, throwing the regiment into confusion, and killing, wounding or capturing more than half of their number.

For the part taken by Mr. Wilcox in this battle he was awarded a medal of honor, of which he is justly proud. It is a medal awarded by congress only for specially meritorious service, and its rarity may be judged by the fact that out of more than a million of enlisted soldiers and officers, less than 600 have been awarded.

He came to South Haven and settled on his present farm, and out of a solid forest he has wrought a beautiful home. In November, 1872, he married Miss Belle Raymond, and together they have toiled, until today one could hardly find a more pleasant place to spend a week or month.

Since South Haven became so ramous as a summer resort, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox have succumbed to the inevitable, and have opened their home to summer guests.

The present season they have largely increased their facilities for accommodating their many guests who have already expressed their determination to come again another year. Anyone seeking a restful place, where fresh fruit is abundant and free to guests, can do no better than to correspond with Mr. W. H. Wilcox, South Haven, Mich.

Painting and Paper Hanging; careful attention given Sign Work.

Frank H. Ketchum was born in Bedford, Michigan, September 18, 1876, went with parents to Augusta and from there to this village in 1881. He studied in our schools, but especially devoted himself to learning his trade of painter. His work in this line is well known in South Haven, where in paper hanging, sign painting as well as painting in general, he has given entire satisfaction. His headquarters are under the First State Bank. Orders can be left there for his services, and also for paint materials of any sort. Prices will be found to be always right. Frank is one of South Haven's best boys and merits a fair share of trade in his chosen profession. His references are to anyone he has worked for, and in general to anyone who knows him.

F. W. EATON.

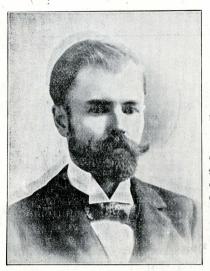

WILLIS HALLOCK

Fred Wilson Eaton is a young business man of high standing in South Haven. He was born in Casco, Allegan County, on the 27th day of April, 1866. He spent his boyhood on a fruit farm, pursued successfully the course of study in the South Haven high school, and took a commercial course at Parsons' Business College at Kalamazoo.

When thirteen years of age he served as messenger boy in the State Legislature. He began his mercantile career at the age of eighteen as salesman for M. Hale & Co. at South Havan.

In 1892 he became identified as a member of the firm of Herman & Eaton in the grocery business. As a business man Mr. Eaton is conservative and careful. Socially he is courteous and sometimes given to hnmor. As a recreative diversion he studies music and is a member of the Home Circle Orchestra recently organized.

In 1896 Mr. Herman sold his interest to Mr. Willis Hallock and thereafter the firm has been known as Hallock & Eaton, grocers, corner of Center and Phoenix streets. The new member of this firm, Mr. Hallock, was born at Almont, Michigan, in 1857. In 1869 he moved with his parents to South Haven where he was engaged in work on a farm and attending the high school. His high school training was supplemented by a course at Goldsmith Commercial College, Detroit. Mr. Hallock purchased fifty acres of land, cleared it and planted most of it to fruit and still regards farming as his occupation. As a merchant Mr. Hallock bears an unsullied reputation. He is also interested in a resort on Michigan avenue.

M. A. JONES.

the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist in 1887. With exception of a short time as traveling representative for the well known pharmaceutical house of John Wyeth & Bro. of Philadelphia, he has constantly followed his profession, being employed as prescriptionist and head clerk by Muir & Co., Grand Rapids, Weeks Drug & Chemical Co., Jackson, and Alsdorf & Son, Lansing. In 1890 he was married to Miss Jennie Alvina Pray, daughter of Esek Pray, of Enton County. Two children, a giri four and one-half years and a boy one and one-half years constitute their family. While at college Mr. Jones paid especial attention Botany, Microscopy to and Chemistry, and is still interested in all the natural sciences. He enjoys a lucrative trade and possesses the entire confidence and esteem of his fellow citizens.

JONES THE DRUGGIST.

Jones The Druggist although having resided only one year in South Haven is already well known as a reliable and painstaking pharmacist. He was born in 1860, a native of the Wolverine state and has no desire to change. After receiving a common school education, he entered the Agricultural College remaining two and one-half years, leaving to teach school which avocation he followed three years. He then entered the University at Ann Arbor, graduating with

PROF. A. D. PRENTICE.

A. D. Prentice, superintendent of the South Haven Schools was born in Ripley, Huron county, Ohio, in 1859 In 1865 his parents moved with him to Michigan. His early days were spent on a farm and in attending the country school. In after years his education was pursued in the High School of Hillsdale and later he took the course in Hillsdale College. After graduation he at once entered on his career as educator. His first school was taught in the village of Osseo, Michigan, where he remained for two years.

In 1885 he was married to Miss Ruth M. Hadley of Jefferson, Michigan, Following his work at Osseo he was elected principal of the High School in Hillsdale, which position he held for five years.

In 1890, Prof. Prentice received the appointment of superintendent of schools in South Haven and at once entered upon his duties in this city, where he remains with satisfaction to all who are concerned.

He holds a state life certificate and is rapidly becoming one of the leading educators of West Michigan.

During his superintendency of South Haven schools the building has been greatly enlarged and refitted. The high school has increased very largely in number of pupils and in popularity with the people of the surrounding country.

Prof. Prentice has recently constructed a handsome and substantial modern residence which is one of the most conspicious improvements in the city.

RESIDENCE AND GREENHOUSE OF M. D. MERRILL.

M. D. Merrill the Florist is a native of the State of New York. Born in 1849 in Byron, Genessee County. Educated in the common school and also in part at Brockport Normal School. Came to Michigan in 1874 and engaged in fruit growing in Casco Township, Allegan County. In connection with fruit culture he carried on quite an extensive work in Floriculture, built a large green hcuse and established a reputation for his fine display of potted plants and for his choice cut flowers.

In 1892 he sold his farm and flower garden and removed to South Haven where he enlarged his plans and erected a handsome residence and one of the finest green houses to be found outside of large cities He commands a large trade in cut flowers, potting and bedding plants. It is hard to single out a specialty in this line of business but we feel justified in speaking particularly of Mr. Merrill's success in growing unrivaled carnations. The people of South Haven are to be congratulated on having this establishment in their midst.

The subject of this sketch, Wm. H. Payne, was born in New York State, March 14, 1834, his parents being of the old New England stock, his father a noted physician and surgeon gave his five children a good education. Taking Horace Greeley's advice, in 1854 Mr. Payne went west, locating at Janesville, Wisconsin. He took a thorough course in book-keeping at Bacon's Commercial College. In 1859 he started for California. The route over the plains he describes as tedious, picturesque, and dangerous; from fire, flood, and the ever present hostile Indian, with good hunting of antelope and buffalo. On the way they visited the Great American Falls on Snake river, Devils Gate on the Sweetwater, Thousand Spring Valley, with its geysers, City of Rocks, Forts Kearney and Larima, and camped above the clouds on the Rocky and Sierra mountains, were six months traveling the 2,500 miles, the longest day's tramp fifty miles across the Great American desert. Mr. Payne mined gold at Placerville and lived in Sacramento and San Francisco up to 1864. Going to Oregon by steamer, visiting Washington, Idaho and Montana, engaged in mining. Afterward at Portland he organized lodges of I. O. of G. T. as state deputy. In 1867 he was elected G. W. C. T. of the State and sent as delegate to the R. W. Grand Lodge of North America coming east via Acapulco and the Isthmus. He visited his old home Janesville, Wisconsin, where he became interested in the invention of a grain binder, taking out in twenty years twelve patents. He sent his resignation as G. W. C. T. back to Oregon and in return received a testimonial from old friends of $100 in gold, for a Christmas present. This grain binding mechanism was the first of that important kind of machinery, and his was considered one of the best as medals and diplomas attest. He went four times to Texas, working in the harvest up through Missouri, Iowa and Dakota, jumping across the Mississippi river near its source, in Mr. Payne refused $50,000 for his patents on grain binders, Minnesota. which after building several thousand machines, the change from wire to cord for bands, rendered inoperative. ## DAVID REID.

David Reid the most genial and enterprising livery man in South Haven is a native of Michigan, born at Douglas, Allegan County, in There on the picturesque shore of lake Michigan, he was edu-1866. cated. There he spent his boyhood days fishing and swimming in summer, hunting and riding on bob sleds in winter, until more mature years developed in him a talent for horses and a taste for business. His first business at Douglas was a livery barn in connection with a flour and feed store which he conducted six years with success to himself and satisfaction to his patrons. In 1892 he sold out his entire interest at Douglas and moving to South Haven purchased the barn managed by Mr. Judson Bailey on Eagle street. There for five years he has successfully conducted a straight forward business. Time, the growth of the city and his own energy and push have made it necessary to more than double the stock and capacity of the building until now he controls more business and handles more stock than any other barn in South Haven. His horses and carriages are always in prime condition and his prices the lowest. He is obliging and courteous, full of energy, punctual to answer all calls. Mr. Reid is really a specialty among resorters, they find him so prompt and accommodating, his hacks, cabs and carriages so luxurious that to patronize his business is one of the pleasures of the season. Commercial and other travelers find it greatly to their interest to call up Reid by telephone for one of his fine rigs when desiring to save time in visiting neighboring towns on business. Patrons from the country know it is the place to feed and rest their horses while in the city, knowing that they will receive the best of care and attention. He is the owner of Florence R and Pilot Medium, blooded animals, that are unsurpassed in the County for speed and gentleness. His premises are always in good order, neat and clean and his assistants active, prompt and courteous.

WILLIAM E. STEWART,

ED. Z. STEWART.

Captain William E. Stewart, editor and proprietor of the South Haven Sentinel, won his millitary title by passing through the several grades from private soldier to that of captain during a service in the late Twelfth Michigan Infantry, continuing from October, in 1861, to March, 1866. After Shiloh and the campaign following up to August, in 1862, he was ordered home on recruiting service and was soon after ordered to Detroit, and became secretary to Lieut.-Col. J. R. Smith, millitary commander of Michigan. At his own request, he was relieved and returned to his regiment, and in October of that year was promoted from seventh corporal of his company to sergeant-major of the regiment, his promotion to second-lieutenant and then first-lieutenant and adjutant following in March of 1864, and his captaincy in June of 1865.

Previous to his army service he had worked at the printing business in Paw Paw, where he was born in 1841, and for nearly three years at Niles, from which city he enlisted. In December, 1866, he went to work on the Buchanan Union, and then was foreman of the St. Joseph Traveler, arriving at South Haven and taking charge of the Sentinel August 14, 1867, purchasing the office in September, of 1868, and since then passing through the vicissitudes attendant upon managing a country paper satisfactorily to himself and friends, in which he has been ably assisted during the past ten years by his son, Ed. Z. Stewart, who still has charge of the advertising and jobbing department of the Sentinel office. In 1872 he was chosen a member of the Republican state central committee, and held that position four years. He was three years deputy collector of customs, and also postmaster of South Haven by appointment of President Hayes.

RESIDENCE OF WILLIAM E, STEWART.

In its political life the Sentinel has been engaged in some hard battles, and as a souvenier of one of them has at the head of its columns a fac simile of a gold hatchet presented by its friends, on which is inscribed that which only the best members of the press gang wear with freedom, but which was seemingly presented to Capt. Stewart in good faith: "I cannot tell a lie." He still holds a case and works at it every day, his local department ranking ahead of many of the brethren having larger towns than his. One advantage he has is that he knows all his people, and saves much time by putting his items in type without copy, giving in some issues 100 locals without using a pencil for so much as could be written on a postal card. The greatest pride of the Sentinel is its home patronage, which is worthily increasing as its country is improved.

Socially the captain is a Royal Arch Mason, past commander of Maj Dickinson Post of the Grand Army of the Republic, past grand of the Odd Fellows and district deputy grand patriarch of the Encampment of that order, was adjutant general of Our Country's Defenders of the Department of Michigan and vice president of the Michigan State Press Association.

MISS ALICE A. DEAN.

In the widening circle of female business activities the subject of this sketch has found an out-of-the-ordinary place, and has been well known in local business circles. She was born near Rochester, New York, and since 1888 has been a resident of South Haven, and graduated from its high school with the class of 1895, and in 1896 received a diploma from Dr. Asire's private commercial school. For two years she has been the efficient assistant of her father in the office of the South Haven Messenger, and is able to transact its business in his absence. In fact, during his illness in the winter of 1896 97 she acted as local editor, winning high encomiums for her efforts in that line. She enjoys the work and the contact it gives her with the business world. She is treasurer of the Choral Union and of the Emmanuel Baptist Sunday School. She has some talent as a vocalist having a contralto voice and has received some training in that line.

Socailly she is agreeably vivacious and is warmly welcomed in gatherings of young people.

MISS NELLIE A. EDGELL.

Miss Nellie Adell Edgell, this esteemed young lady is a native of the township of South Haven. She was born at "Spring Hill" the pres-ent homestead of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Edgell. In her earlier years she attended school in District No. 5, but later on, was at intervals a pupil of the South Haven graded school. Home duties however, frequently interupted her studies and eventually prevented her graduation, but at the age of eighteen, having decided upon a business career, she took a course of instruction in book-keeping and general business pursuits, and in 1896, supplemented this with a year's attendance at Parson's Business College, Kalamazoo, Michigan, where she also acquired stenography and type writing, after which she accepted a position in the Real Estate office of her father, in the First State Bank building, and besides attending to his voluminous correspondence, averaging four to six hundred letters per month, Miss Nellie also does much extra copying for others. She has thoroughly mastered the intricacies of her father's business and can discourse as learnedly of soils, locations, fruits, picturesque landscapes, etc., as the vet-H. J. himself, and besides in his absence, can drive a prospective purchaser unerringly to any given piece of property, describe the contents of the farm, state its value and terms of sale and is credited with having consumated several sales of property unaided.

Miss Nellie not only enjoys the high esteem of her many young lady friends, but is also a favorite with her elderly acquaintances, who admire and respect her for her level-headed business qualifications, as also for her well known accomplishments in the art cuisine, in which she is deemed an expert even in her own home circle.

O.A. DEAN, M. D

O. A. DEAN, M. D.

O. A. Dean, M. D., Editor and Publisher of the Sou h Haven Messenger, was born in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1843. He received an academic education, and at the age of seventeen taught a district school near Savannah N. Y. Having determined to get a college education, he entered Leavenworth Collegiate Institute, Wolcott, N. Y., in preparation for college, but his patriotic impulses led him to enlist, Oct. 1st, 1861, in Co. F, 75th N. Y. Vols. which was mustered into the U. S. service Nov 24th, 1861, and early in December was sent by sea to Fort Pickens, Fla., thence later to Pensacola, New Orleans and Brashear City, Louisiana. In the spring of 1863, owing to asthma. he was detached from the regiment, and became one of the ward masters in a general hospital in New Orleans, and later chief clerk in the office of the same hospital. Transferred to the Veteran Reserve corps and to Alexandria, Va., he served out his time in another hospital.

Soon after his return home he began the stuly of medicine, and in 1868 graduated from the Medical Department of the University of Buffalo. He practiced thirteen years in the state of New York, then seven years in Wisconsin, and in 1888 came here from Beloit and entered practice, also assisting his father, R. S. Dean, on the Messenger.

In December, 1891, he assumed the conduct of the Messenger, his father having retired on account of disease and the infirmities of age. Under his management the plant has been furnished with new presses and machinery, the paper has been enlarged and changed in form, and its circulation greatly increased, until it stands at the head of the local papers.

His utterances in its columns attest to the interest of Mr. Dean in all public affairs—political, municipal, educational, literary and musical, and his earnest advocacy of all reforms and improvements. He is genial and kindly, ever ready to assist in every good work.

He was married to Miss Marion D. Alton at Rochester, N. Y., in 1869, and to them were born four daughters, the last having died in infancy. Their eldest daughter is Mrs. F. W. Eaton, the second, Miss Elsie, a graduate of the State Normal school, is teaching in Sault de Ste. Marie, and the youngest, Miss Alice, is his book keeper and assistant in the office.

ARTHUR JARVIS.

HARRI JARVIS.

Among the recent acquisitions to South Haven's rapidly growing population are the Jarvis brothers, late of Windsor Park, Ill., who during the past season purchased of O. F. Dean one of the best income-paying, and otherwise attractive, forty-acre fruit farms in the vicinity of South Haven, located on the Bangor Road, just outside of the city limits. This farm has been widely known for the quantity and superior quality of its peaches and other fruits, as also for furnishing a noted example of model culture, high-grade fertility, and successful management, in the matter of marketing its products.

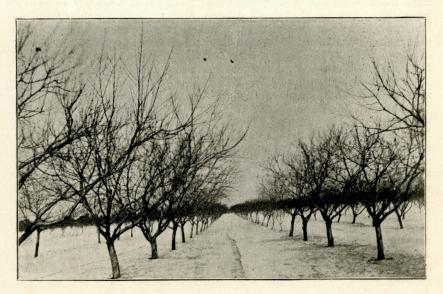

Both of the Jarvis brothers, during the past ten years have occupied responsible and lucrative positions in the Illinois Steel Works. Mr. Harry Jarvis still retains his place, while the management of the farm, during the summer season, has been delegated to Mr. Arthur Jarvis, who is also associated with a leading Chicago law firm, and during his leisure winter months will devote his attention to the practice of that profession. Neither of the above gentlemen enjoyed a practical knowledge of horticulture, but it has been the dream of their lives to own and manage a fruit farm. They have not hesitated to seek information when it was needed, or to make a practical application of the knowledge obtained. They are both hustlers, and ambitious to excel in the production of high-grade peaches, and accordingly spare no pains or expense in attaining to and maintaining the highest possible standards in quality, honest packing, and attractive packages. The result of a single season's efforts with this end in view has demonstrated to them that it pays to look carefully after details.

Their farm will henceforth be known as "The Moorland," and it will be the aim of the Jarvis brothers to merit a continuation of the high esteem and liberal patronage hitherto accorded it. Orders for high-grade fruit solicited in their respective seasons. Quality always guaranteed as represented.

This laudable enterprise was started in 1886 by Mr. J. J. Clement, from eggs bought from Frost, the noted fancier and originator of the White Plymouth Rock, in the state of Maine. The yards were then situated at Gobleville, Michigan. From the beginning the purpose of the proprietor has been to bend all energies and expense toward the improvement of a single variety—the White Plymouth Rock. In 1889 the yards were moved to South Haven, and such success has attended his efforts that Mr. Clement has sold eggs and stock in nearly every state of the Union, and in Mexico and Canada. This success has been rather phenominal considering the great number of varieties of poultry and the vast army of men who are engaged in breeding them. But the White Plymouth Rock is now one of the most popular of fowls, standing next to, if not surpassing the old Barred Plymouth Rock. This breed is fast coming to the front in every point that marks desirable poultry. In the number of eggs per hen they have taken first prize over all other varieties. In color they stand at the head, being pure snow white. In size they average along with the older strain, the Barred Plymouth Rock; and in shape, this photograph of a cock now in the yards shows that they are not one point behind the most famous. Mr. Clement has taken many prizes at the late poultry shows-Chicago, Detroit, Bay City, Jackson, Ypsilanti, Kalamazoo, and South Haven. The cock shown at the late Chicago show but for an injured comb would have scored as high as the best, showing that the main points, color and shape, were as good as the best. In order to meet the demands of an increasing business Mr. Clement has now formed a partnership with Mr. Wm. Dykeman, who will have the management of the poultry yards now located on his farm of eighty-seven acres, partly set to fruit, making a good combination, situated as it is, bordering on Black River a short drive east of town. When the poultry yards are completed it will make one of the best plants in Michigan. They have added the Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Wyandottes, Pekin Ducks, and Bronze Turkeys to the already mentioned yards of White Plymouth Rocks, and intend to breed these to the highest point of excellency by very careful and systematic breeding, as in the past. They will insure to those purchasing stock or eggs that they will get the best to be had, and get honest treatment.

LYMAN L. CROSTHWAITE.

Lyman L. Crosthwaite, B. E. O. A., professor of music, elocution, and dramatic art, has recently located in South Haven. Mr. Crosthwaite is a native of Illinois. During the twenty years in which he has followed his profession he has taught both independently and in colleges in New England and western states. He has made a thorough study of both the speaking and the singing voice under some of the best masters in America. His success as a teacher has been very marked in all the branches of his art: voice culture, chorus singing, elocution, oratory, physical culture, impersonation, and dramatic action. Mr. Crosthwaite is also an entertainer of unusual ability, his repertoire embracing humorous, dialectic, pathetic, heroic, and the intensely He, with his wife (who is a fine vocalist and dramatic dramatic. reader) and their two little sons, Ralph and Robert, have traveled quite extensively giving entertainments of high order. Mr. Crosthwaite was recently elected conductor of the South Haven Choral Union, and has already distinguished himself by his superior abilities in this line. He has also a nice class of private pupils. All of his work is artistic, showing him to be master of his profession. Any one desiring the best instruction in any of the branches mentioned would do well to write to Mr. Crosthwaite or call at his residence at 312 Eagle Street.

FAIR LEE RESORT.

This charming summer home was opened to a few guests in 1893. There was no effort to make it a public resort, but those who patronized the house found everything so comfortable and the hostess so hospitable and accommodating that they returned, and brought others. This made it necessary to enlarge, and now the capacity will accommodate from seventy-five to one hundred guests. The location of the FAIR LEE is all that could be desired, on the corner of Erie and Paw Paw Streets, in the shadiest and most quiet part of South Haven. Three minutes walk from the Post-office, and five minutes walk from the boat-landings. It is two blocks from the shore of Lake Michigan, rendering it convenient for bathing and recreation along the beach. The owner and manager of this delightful retreat, Mrs. H. J. Fairlee is a native of Kosciusko County, Indiana. She came to South Haven in 1869, and married William Fairlee, Esq., in 1870. She has one daughter, married to Mr. H. M. Griffin, son of G. W. Griffin of Casco. They now reside in Chicago. For the last five years Mrs. Fairlee has had full control of the Resort business, and has by her own energy and good management developed it to its present profitable stage. Terms for summer board made known on application.

WM. F. MERRILL.

Wm. F. Merrill was born in Jefferson Co., N. Y., Aug. 1, 1856. He came to South Haven April 11, 1878, and has resided here since. Like many successful young Americans, he commenced empty handed, and worked the first season by the month on the farm for Liberty H. Bailey, and September 18 of the same season was united in matrimony to Miss Emma R. Wakefield, and in October following settled on his present place of residence on Grand and South Avenues. By the aid of his efficient helpmeet he pulled through the severe struggle of clearing away the forest, setting orchard, and erecting commodious house, barn, and other buildings, making a very pleasant home.

Mr. Merrill has been the South Haven agent of the West Michigan Nurseries since its organization, has built up an extensive trade and gained the confidence of his customers. Mr. Merrill is right in the prime of life, full of energy, and his former success gives assurance of a still more prosperous career in the future.

JOHN J. LYNCH,

John J. Lynch, the leading blacksmith and horseshoer, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y. in 1854. There he received his education in the common school. In 1878 he moved to Rochester, where he conducted a blacksmith and horseshoeing establishment for five years. In 1883 he moved to Rockport in the same state, and there continued this business for five years. He then moved to Michigan and lived one year in Hillsdale, and in 1889 came to South Haven, and, with the exception of a year and a half in Chicago, has continued here to the present time, conducting a first-class blacksmithing and horseshoeing shop, and doing all kinds of repair work in iron and wood, also in the manufacture of wagons and carriages.

Mr. Lynch also owns a beautiful spot on the high bluff of Lake Michigan, which he is rapidly transforming into a first-class summer The grounds contain about twenty-four acres and one of the resort. most beautiful native groves to be found on the shore. During the summer of 1897 about thirty people enjoyed the summer in this grove, furnishing their own tents and outfits, and were more than glad of the privilege of rusticating in this picturesque spot and enjoying as much as circumstances would permit of Mr. Lynch's hospitality. Now he has improved the place—built a large and commodious house with shady verandas, and opened up the remodeled grounds in a way to attract those who are seeking rest and recreation. There are here splendid fishing grounds in Lake Michigan. Neat and convenient bath houses have been built, and with the magnificent grove of hardwood trees one hundred feet above the water, there is nothing lacking to make this one of the most enjoyable resorts along the lake.

CAPTAIN JAMES S. DONAHUE.

This prominent and honored citizen comes from Vermont. He was born at Middlebury in 1842. In 1854, at twelve years of age, he went to sea and served about four years on the same whale ship. In 1861 he enlisted in the 8th Michigan Infantry and served through almost the entire war of the Rebellion. His war record for endurance, suffering, and gallant service is one of the best. He was with the famous 9th Corps, which under Gen. Burnside was engaged in most of the great battles. He received wounds in five separate engagements, and was under fire for 106 days. At the battle of James Island, June 16, 1862 he was struck by a grape shot weighing one pound and five ounces. It entered the shoulder, and was found near the spine, and measured 21/2 inches in diameter. In the battle of the wilderness, May 6, 1864 he lost a leg. He enlisted as a private and was mustered out a Captain, holding his commission more than two years. Space forbids the recital of a tithe of the splendid record of this veteran, battle-scarred patriot.

He is a genial and courteous gentleman, and well known in the community of South Haven. In 1874, Mar. 1, he was appointed keeper of the Lighthouse at this harbor, and there as in the frightful scenes of war, he serves his country faithfully and gallantly.

HISTORY OF CASCO TOWNSHIP. 4

BY GEO. W. GRIFFIN.

The southwestern Township of Allegan County. The survey is No. 1 north, Range 16 west, also the fractional township in Range 17 west, in all containing nearly forty sections of land. It is bounded on the north by the Township of Ganges, on the east by Lee, and on the south by the Van Buren County line and the Township of South Haven, and on the west by Lake Michigan.

THE EARLY SETTLERS IN CASCO. In the fall of 1844 John Thayer and two sons bought land and made the first clearing on Section 2. While they were engaged in this work they boarded at Levi Loomis's in Ganges, and in the spring of 1845 moved on to their land, which was not far from where the Spring Grove P. O. is now located. Mortimer McDowell and Wm. B. Reynolds, a brother-in-law of Mr. McDowell, came the same spring and began at once to make a clearing on Section 18 on the lake front. These men came in advance of the rest of their families, to prepare the way, erect cabins, etc. While doing this work they boarded at A. A. Crawford's in Ganges. On June 17, Timothy McDowell with wife and three children arrived by team and wagon from their western New York home. Although McDowell brought his family by team, his household goods were shipped to Saugatuck by lake and then brought on a flatboat towed by a man walking on the beach, to his home. The beach was then the only road. A road was soon opened near the lake shore to Saugatuck. The McDowells and Thayers were the only white families who were actual settlers, for four or five years. The McDowell home became the stopping-place for weary travelers for a good many years, and a very welcome place it was. The next settler was Garret Updike, who arrived in 1850. Then came the Sheffers, Mungers, Hollisters, L. D. Cook, Joseph Dow, W. W. Ockford, M. F. Rose, J. Emmons, W. P. Davis, Ezra Brown, the Bardens, E. K. McLouth, Crosby Eaton, A. B. Avery, John Flint, C. Buys, John Fabin, Thomas Iddles, R. Bowls, W. Crates, the Hamlins, L. W. Osborn, and Andrew Brown, all of whom settled in the township between 1850 and 1860.

C. M. Sheffer purchased the land where he now resides in 1850. It is one and three-quarter miles north of South Haven on the lake front. Although all of the original forest has been cut away, Mr. Sheffer did not forget to plant maple trees along the street, and at present has some of the finest that are produced in Michigan or any other state.

Mr. Joseph Dow settled one-half mile east of Mr. Sheffer, and had to go to Paw Paw, thirty-five miles distant through the forest, without roads, to procure nails to build with. His house now stands, and was the first frame house built in the township. Mr. and Mrs. Dow died between 1880 and 1885. The farm is now in possession of their daughter, Mrs. T. A. Bixby.

Mr. S. G. Sheffer settled between the Dow farm and C. M. Sheffer's, and we are happy to say Mr. and Mrs. Sheffer are still occupants of their beautiful and happy home. These early settlers had a great task to get to a grist-mill. After having raised a little grain they had to take it to Allegan or Lawrence, while the road was a mere Indian trail. The difficulties these early pioneers encountered are not realized by us—Indian depredations, the wolves, and other wild animals too numerous to mention, but numerous enough to destroy an unprotected poultry-vard or sheepfold in one night.

The township was settling very fast about the time the war broke out. and between 1862 and 1865 the eastern portion began filling up. One of the early improvements was the grist-mill of John Fabin of East Casco, which was constructed of a hemlock-log mortar and a spring-pole pestle, but settlers were glad to use it, as it would save them a trip of over twenty miles to Allegan. To show how some settlers did begin. Mr. Henry Overhiser bought his land on Section 1. He traded his horse, harness, and saddle as part payment on the land, and had nothing but his hands with which to provide for future payments or improvements. When Mr. Iddles settled on Section 13 he bought corn of Mr. Barden and had it pounded in Fabin's mill to keep them until his corn grew large enough to grate on a sieve made by punching holes in a tin pan, and then their corn dodgers were grown, manufactured, and digested on their own ranch. I have heard Mr. Iddles tell of how happy they were when their apple trees bore their first fruit. He set apple trees with a liberal hand, not even having a thought but that they could use all the fruit they would ever raise. But many are the years that they have sold from 300 to 500 barrels of apples in a season from this small orchard. The McDowells built a pier for the shipment of wood and lumber by lake, which proved a great help to the settlers, as there were several mills in the different localities. Between 1862 and 1864 business in South Haven started up enough to make quite a market for wood, bark, and logs, of which there was a great quantity hauled or floated in the river or run on flatboats, etc. For fifteen years or more this kind of freight was immense in tonnage, as the forest crop was one of great value, which brought the settlers their living and in many instances funds enough to pay for their land. About the year 1864 John Willett built a new pier in Lake Michigan, thereby establishing better market and shipping facilities. This pier was directly west of the McDowell schoolhouse. About the same time W.

G. Plummer built a pier two miles south of the Willett pier, which accommodated the wood trade for the several adjoining farms. I remember their loading the pier to its fullest capacity with sawed four-foot body wood of 120 cords, and the schooner Geo. L. Seaver went out and took it all and did not have a full cargo.

TOWNSHIP ORGANIZATION. Casco was a portion of Ganges until 1854, when it was set off under its present name; Timothy McDowell, E. K. McLouth, and S. G. Sheffer being appointed a board to preside at the first township meeting. The names of the Supervisors are: 1855 Timothy McDowell, 1856 Richard Barden, 1857-9 Wm. P. Davis, 1860 Crosby Eaton, 1861 Wm. P. Davis, 1862-3 John Willett, 1864 A. J. Munger, 1865-76 Crosby Eaton, 1877-8 Henry Overhiser, and since 1878 Marshall Bugden, Chas. Johnson, G. W. The burning of Linus Bathrick's house in 1869 destroyed all the Township records, as Mr. Bathrick was Town Clerk at the time.

In 1852 the road from South Haven to Sangatuck had been sufficiently cleared to establish a stage route. The route manager was John H. Billings, a resident of Ganges. Mr. N. Q. Munger says it was a common occurrence for people to stand in their cabin door and shoot deer. Mr. Crosby Eaton, as the records show, was Supervisor of the township eleven successive years, also represented this district two terms in the Legislature.

The people who first started in the fruit business as a business along the lake were Histed and Wigglesworth, Crosby Eaton, C. M. Sheffer, S. G. Sheffer, A. D. Healy, T. A. Bixby, J. J. Goodemote, M. H. Bixby, I. S. Linderman, Henry Bishop, E. D. Farnum, Chas. Johnson, A. C. Merritt, Reuben Walker, H. C. Farnum, Hiram Griffin, T. W. Merritt, W. G. Plummer, Sanford Shumway, N. Q. Munger, Mortimer McDowell, E. K. McLouth, L. W. Osborn, H. A. Fowler, S. M. Hamlin, Henry Hamlin, the Bardens, C. Buys, N. D. Fitch, Wm. Dye. The earlier ones in the east part of the township were the Overhisers, Bugden, Johnsons, Marrs, Moore, Spencer, James Usher, and others.

These offices are in the west and north part of the township and are served by a daily mail service. Also nearly all the residents along the line have mail delivery. The southeastern portion of the township has P. O. accommodation on the Michigan Central R. R. at Lacota and Kibbie stations. At Hawkhead is located our Township Hall, the voters of the township numbering over 500 and no village in the township.

The fruit in Casco is the important product. Grain and stock are secondary compared to it. Shipping points are South Haven, Glenn, Hoppertown, Lacota, and Kibbie.

The church privileges are good. There is preaching in six different localities regularly, and the attendance at the Sunday-schools averages about 500. The day schools are all provided with comfortable substantial buildings. The public highways are in fair condition and are improving each year. We hope soon to have them more perfect.

West Casco M. E. Church was organized in 1866 by Rev. Wm. Paddock. Present edifice erected and dedicated in 1880 under the pastorate of Rev. M. D. Carrel. During all the years of its history it was closely identified with the South Haven M. E. Church, until the close of Rev. S. C. Strickland's pastorate, when South Haven was made a station, since which time this church has been cared for by Rev. A. M. Griffith, of Ganges.

CONSERVATIVE U. B. CHURCH.

Conservative U. B. Church. About 1860 a few of this earnest faith came into Casco, and shortly after Rev. S. C. Buck organized a class, and in 1880 a church was built in Section 4. A few years ago a schism arose in the denomination, which for a time caused some dispute. After long waiting the Michigan courts decided the property title to be vested in the old church, since which time harmony prevails, and with its accustomed vigor it is putting itself in the front rank of usefulness, so that in 1896 the Conservative branch reported 853 churches, 45 new ones built, 40,332 members, an increase of 1736 during the year, a total of 695 ministers. The local society bids fair under the continued pastorate of Rev. Milo J. Bunker to equal its old-time congregations. A good college is maintained by the denomination at Huntington, Ind., which invites the youth of all classes to share in its broad scholarship and wholesome teaching. A good Sunday-school is sustained by the local society, under the efficient leadership of W. A. Keenv as Superintendent, giving each Sunday a large number of children lessons in a useful life.

LIBERAL U. B. CHURCH.

Liberal U. B. Church. For a number of years a controversy divided the friends of the U. B. faith, until the courts of Michigan decided that all property of the denomination belonged to the Conservative branch. Accordingly the Liberal branch of this faith said,"We will build," and in 1894 a house was erected that would do credit to any village of moderate size. The building is of modern architecture, with a seating capacity of 300 or 400, fitted with opera chairs, the interior well in keeping with the exterior. Divided into two apartments, each one finished in water colors by one of the best artists in Western Michigan. The total cost of this commodious structure was $2,500-all paid. A year ago it was thought best to separate from all other churches in the matter of pastoral support; so accordingly a pastor was given and the place declared a station. Last conference Rev. B. F. Brinkman was appointed, and began his labor, being promised $400.00 as his compensation. A public appeal made last Nov. 28 resulted in pledges to the amount of $574.00, further evidencing the public spirit of this progressive people. A fine parsonage is also part of this model church property. This magnificent property is cared for officially by S. M. Hadaway, Wm. Sanders, H. H. Ridley as trustees, and James K. Barden as general steward.

HENRY C. BARDEN.

Mrs HENRY C. BARDEN.

Henry C. Barden, one of the best known and most successful fruit growers in West Michigan, was born in Kalamazoo County, Mich. When he was about ten years of age his parents moved to Casco, Allegan County, when the country was almost an unbroken forest. Their first residence was a "shanty" 12x12 feet in size, and lighted by half a window. The next house was made of logs and was quite a structure for those times, being 16x24 feet. Henry helped to clear the old farm and all of the eighty acres where his home is, except five or. six acres. His farm is an ideal one in its location and form. And by continuous cultivation and fertilization he has made it one of the most productive in the country. The soil is a rich sand loam undulated and rolling enough to give it almost perfect drainage. Mr. Barden is a tireless worker and a good manager. He studies the needs of his land, and is persistent in using all kinds of fertilizers and has had especially good success with commercial fertilizers. His trees remain green long after other orchards have burned red by the summer heat. His first full crop of peaches was gathered in 1892, and amounted to 19,000 The highest price obtained was in 1890 when peck baskets baskets. sold for $1.25. His largest crop was gathered in 1895, being 38,000 baskets from about twenty-five acres, and in 1896 he took 36,000 baskets from the same orchard. Mr. Barden is not an experimentalist, but he remembers to have picked from 100 trees of the Gold Drop variety, 1.400 baskets at one picking, and left more than one-half the crop on the trees. All the material and work, from the stone wall to interior finish, are of the most unblemished quality. As a man and citizen he is a most courteous and hospitable gentleman.

Flora R. Barden (nee Munger) is a native of Royalton, Niagara Co., N. Y. She was born March 15, 1850. In 1869, Nov. 18, she was united in marriage to Mr. H. C. Barden of Casco Township, Allegan County, 'Michigan, and together they have lived and labored through the pioneer days, clearing and improving the homestead, nutil their palatial country home and well improved farm are the fitting rewards of their patience and labor. Mrs. Barden is the mother of two children, Charles M., and Eva Hope, both of whom are married. She is the skillful manager and keeper of one of the finest and most convenient homes in West Michigan, and is known for her generous hospitality and good works. She belongs to that noble band of American women who have made and kept their own homes, and made them beautiful with their own hands and wills.

Among the very successful inhabitants of Casco no one is more conspicuous than the subject of this sketch. Mr. Barden is a native of Kalamazoo County, Mich. He was born in the gold year of 1849. In 1855 he came with his parents to Casco and settled in that region which now embraces his estate. Here he grew up to manhood, making the farm and attending school. Hard work was a grim necessity in those days of dense forests and undrained soil, but to him who toils and waits all things come: so the forest gave way to fields that smiled with harvests, the fields became orchards that bloomed and fruited, dropping plenty and conifort into the hands of the worker. To-day: the humble cottage that sheltered the boy has given way to a mansion of elegance and comfort, the home of the man in his prime, and a fit monument to his industry, economy, and honor. As evidence of his success Mr. Barden has gathered 32,000 baskets of peaches from 1,600 trees. He has marketed fruit at $1.50 per basket, and another year saw his peaches sell for $4.00 per bushel. He is considered one of the most useful citizens of this community, outside of his business interests. He has never tried to go to Congress, but has managed a Sundayschool for fifteen years, which has increased in attendance from twentyfive to one hundred eighty.

Mrs. Sarah J. Barden (nee Hadaway) is a native of Indiana. Her father is Samuel Hadaway, Esq., who now owns and cultivates an estate near the home of his son-in-law. In 1882 Miss Hadaway was married to James K. Barden. They have three children —a son thirteen years of age, and twin daughters three years of age. The new house, a picture of which adorns the next page, was built in 1897, and in it is to be found one of the best regulated and happiest homes on earth.

ALBERT W. OVERHISER.

Mrs. ALBERT W. OVERHISER.

Albert W. Overhiser was born in Blackford County, Indiana, in 1857. When three years old he came with his parents to Allegan County. Mich., and lived some years near the county seat. After reaching manhood, for seventeen years he followed the thrashing business. His record shows that he thrashed wheat for Norman Fitch that yielded fifty-six bushels per acre, and clover-seed for George Newcome that vielded seven bushels per acre, and from his own fields wheat has produced thirty-five bushels per acre of the finest grain. After some years he purchased certain shares in the homestead, which together with his own share made him a farm of sixty acres. He borrowed the money for this purchase and at the same time planted a nine-acre peach orchard, and in five years, when the mortgage was due, the crop from it paid the debt and cleared the farm. From this nine acres he has in two successive seasons gathered 18,000 baskets of peaches, one of the best vields on record. His first crop was in 1890. His orchard now contains 2,400 peach trees, 600 plum, 225 cherry, 112 apple, 3,500 currant bushes, 1,200 raspberry, besides blackberry, gooseberry, grapes, and strawberry. It is one of the most productive farms in West Michigan, is kept in a high state of cultivation, and its neat appearance, convenient arrangement, and splendid improvements speak in highest praise of the talent and industry of the owner. He is ably assisted in all his affairs by his young, handsome, and accomplished wife. Mrs. Daisy Galbreath Overhiser was born in Indiana, and is the daughter of Samuel Galbreath of Kosciusko County. Her maiden years were spent in the home of her father. In 1896 she was united in marriage to Mr. They now rejoice in a beautiful boy, William McKinley, Overhiser. born Dec. 25, 1896.

REV. H. P. FULLENWEIDER.

Rev. H. P. Fullenweider is a native of Indiana, of German descent. He was born near Waveland, Montgomery County, on Nov. 3, 1853. Until he was eighteen years of age he was employed on his father's farm and attending the district school. His literary education was obtained at Waveland Collegiate Institute, a then flourishing academy under the management of the Presbyterian Church. Three years were spent there and three years in the upper classes of Wabash College at Crawfordsville, Ind. He studied theology at McCormick Theological Seminary at Chicago three years, graduating in 1880. He supplied the Presbyterian Church of Taylorville Illinois one year, and the Fifth Church of Minneapolis one year. Then he was called to the church at Gibson City, Ill., where he remained as pastor nearly eight years. While with this church, in the midst of a union revival meeting, he was threatened with a collapse of the nervous system and was ordered to cease all ministerial labor for five years. In 1890 he traveled through England, France, Italy, and Switzerland, in obedience to physicians' orders. Afterward he was engaged for three and onehalf years in real estate and insurance in Chicago. Thinking that health was sufficiently restored, he again entered on the work of the ministry, serving Westminster Church, Chicago, one year. Then receiving a call, he took charge of the Presbyterian Church at Schoolcraft, Mich. After one and a half years he again ceased the work of his chosen profession, to find, if possible, permanent health in outdoor employment. In 1896 he came to the vicinity of South Haven and purchased a fruit farm.

Oct. 11, 1883. he was married to Miss Lulu Rockwell, eldest daughter of the late Dr. C. V. Rockwell of Taylorville, Ill.

HISTORY OF COVERT.

BY ORIN S. SHAW.

Covert is one of the two Western townships of Van Buren County, having the shore of Lake Michigan for its Western border. It is made up of two fractional townships, known in the U. S. survey as Town Two, South of Range Seventeen West, and Town Two South of Range Eighteen West. It is four and one-half miles wide on the North line, and seven and one-fourth miles wide on the South line, which, with an overplus of one-eighth of a mile in the North and South lines, gives the area practically equal to a full township.

There are unmistakable indications that the whole SURFACE. township has at some time lain beneath the waters of Lake Michigan, the dunes along the Western border having been thrown up by the winds and waves since the subsidence of the lake to its present level, consequent upon glacial recession, and the opening of a more Northerly and lower outlet at Niagara. The face of the country is divided in a general way into four belts running from South to North, parallel with the shore of the lake. The Western belt, comprising about one-sixth of the whole surface, is an uninterrupted line of sand dunes, rising two hundred to two hundred and fifty feet above the lake level, their tops being much the highest land in the town. Next to these is a line of almost continuous swamps, through which the Brandywine meanders from the South and, uniting with a smaller creek from the Northeast, pushes its way betwixt the dunes to the lake at a point about one mile South from the Northwest corner of the town. Much of this swamp land is now drained, the South part by the Brandywine drain, and a drain having its outlet in Maple Creek, and the North part by the laving out and working of highways. From this swamp belt the land rises gradually toward the East until at from three to four miles from the lake, it culminates in a ridge, which, through all its breaks and windings, can be clearly traced throughout the length of the This ridge at its apex, and adjacent to it, mainly on the town. Western slope, is strewed with boulders, in many places lying thickly on the surface or just beneath. Many of them are granite of a beautiful texture, and all are rounded and worn by ages of tumbling upon what was once a bar in the lake, when Huron found its outlet in a broad stream from Saginaw to Grand Rapids, and Michigan flowed Southwestward to the "Father of Waters," and the Gulf. This belt covers about one-fourth of the total area, and includes on either side, what may be called the upland forms of the township, and, on its top and Western slope, runs from North to South the peach belt of this There are many fine, high-lying plateaus among the dunes, region. which will some day be the sites of flourishing orchards, and many pleasant coves and dells, which may be beautified by the summer residences of the refined and wealthy, but that will be when a short cut railroad shall skirt their Eastern base, and the swifter boats of the future shall bring us still nearer to the great city of the lakes. The ax of the lumberman and the sweeping of repeated fires, have shorn the lake region of much of its pristine beauty. Nothing could be better than to have the forest growth restored, but ages will not bring it about. East of the ridge is the fourth belt, a region of swamps which extend to the Eastern limits of the town. These lands, however, are drained, and are being rapidly brought under cultivation.

FOREST GROWTH. The whole township was originally one dense interminable forest, the home of wild animals, and a f-vorite huntingground. Vast quantities of hemlock and pine, and whitewood, and oak, interspersed with white ash and bass, and hickory, wild cherry and beech, and maple and black ash, covered dune and swamp and upland, over the whole region. At this date scarce a vestige of those wide forests remains.

Soll. The soil, except in the swamps or low lands, is thin; over a subsoil of fine, worn sand, or, in some cases, of tenacious clay; endlessly interspersed with numberless patches of fertile loam. It is not well adapted to extensive grain-growing, but is destined to be the land of the small farmer, the gardener, and the fruit-grower.

CLIMATE. Since the clearing of the forests, and the draining of the swamps, the wind comes with the strong and steady sweep peculiar to lake or prairie, but with a delightful sense of purity and exhilaration, to which a wanderer from regions of sultry nights and malarial plains will soon respond. The dampness of winter winds is often disagreeable, but the lake breeze of summer days, and the loveliness of autumn can hardly be excelled.

SURVEYS. The outside lines of this township were established by Wm. Brookfield, whose report is dated April 27, 1827. The work of subdivision was done by Geo. W. Harrison, D. S., and his record of the work is this: "Commenced Feb. 23, 1830. Finished March 4, 1830. Vari. 5 degrees 50 minutes E." The variation of the compass needle at that date, for this locality, was five degrees and fifty minutes to the East of North, about four degrees greater than it is at the present date.

EARLY SETTLEMENT. In the year 1844 Benoni Young, the first settler, entered the township and located upon the Southwest quarter of Section fifteen. His little clearing was about one-half mile west of the present village of Covert. Here he lived about thirteen years, and here occurred the first birth in town, that of Mariette Young., and the first death, that of Mrs. Young. The second marriage in town was that of Allen Fish, to Miss Jane Young in 1859—the first having been Mr. Chas. Phillips and Almira Sinkler. Mr. Young was a great hunter, and it is said that as Watervliet settlers gradually drew further North, he declared that neighbors were getting too near, and he must get away. He did not meet a purchaser until 1857. The next settlers were John Peters and Matthias Farnum, who came in 1852. In the year 1853 came George H. Barker, who located upon the Southeast quarter of Section twenty-two. He remained a year or two, much of the time employed about mills in process of erection at the mouth of the Brandywine Creek, then returned to the East for a few months, and came back in 1855. He settled at first upon the Northwest corner of his land, where his old house and barn are still standing, surrounded by one of the oldest orchards in town. His present residence is on the main road on the East side of his farm. He has served his township thirteen years as Supervisor, one year as Treasurer, several years as Drain Commissioner, and in various other capacities for many years, and he shares with James Dobbyn the honor of being the oldest living resident of the town. In 1853 Matthias Farnum built the first sawmill. It was a water mill, and was located near the mouth of Brandywine Creek, at the Northwest corner of Section eight. It was soon superseded by a more pretentious undertaking, of which mention will be made further James Dobbyn, a native of Canada, came in 1854, and entered on. 280 acres on Section thirty-two. He is still living at his old home, is a well-known and respected citizen, and has served his township three years as treasurer, and in various other capacities. Hiram Fish came with his family in 1855 and entered 360 acres upon Section twenty-one. Three of his sons may well be counted among the pioneers. Miram Fish, who settled upon the Northeast corner of Section thirty-two, and Allen Fish, and Draper Fish, who settled near the center of the North half of Section twenty-one, and John Burnham also, a brother-in-law, settled by them, on the South half of the same section. In 1855 came I. S. Packard, who settled upon the Southeast corner of Section thirtyfive. He was Justice of the Peace for many years. By occupation he was a mechanic, and did much of the repairing in those early days, and he was the pioneer resident surveyor of the town. At about the same date, William and John McConnell came from Canada, and became his near neighbors, upon the Southwest corner of Section Franklin Beal also entered upon eighty acres, a part of thirty-six. which was upon Section thirty-four, and a part upon Section thirtyfive. Also at the same date came William Kelly and W. W. Lampson, who entered 160 acres upon Section thirty-five. William A. Dell, the first Supervisor of the township, came from the state of New York in 1855, and settled upon eighty acres which he purchased on Section twenty-nine. He soon removed to Watervliet, where he died. The same year Reuben Lee became a resident upon the Southwest corner of Section thirty-three, where he is still living. In 1855 came also Robert Morrison who purchased a forty upon the Southeast corner of Section ten, and built a home, and a tannery, where he followed his occupation for many years. He was an excellent tanner, and his leather obtained a wide reputation. The shoemaker's attestation that his leather was obtained from Morrison was considered a sufficient guarantee for the quality of the leather. He died in 1888, ten years ago, but his widow and two of his sons and a daugther still reside upon the old place. Mrs. Morrison is a sister of Mrs. William Kenney and the Sherburne brothers, who were early residents of the town. In 1857 John Enlow, an old hunter, settled upon the Southwest quarter of Section twelve, where he resided for many years. He emigrated to the West, and died in Oklahoma several years ago; but his sons and grandchildren, and great-grandchildren are with us to this day. In 1857 William Sherburne came also and bought the premises of Benoni Young, but soon sold the Western part of his purchase; William Kenney settling upon the Northwest forty in 1860, whose old house is still standing a few steps Southwest of the residence of Chester Carpenter, who now occupies the premises. Mr. Kenney and his wife are now living about three-fourths of a mile South of the village. At about the same time Charles Phillips, one of the first inhabitants, settled upon the Southwest forty, which he had purchased of Young several years before, and where he still resides. Wm. Sherburne soon added by purchase, to his remaining eighty, the West half of the Southeast quarter of Section fifteen, and in 1866 sold the whole to Dawson Pompey. The last mentioned eighty acres are now mostly owned and worked by Dr. O. M. Vaughan. Wm. Kenney is the father of S. D. Kenney of Covert, and J. W. Kenney of South Haven. His settlement was soon followed by the coming of his brothers-in-law, Charles Sherburne now of Hartford Township, and Adolphus Sherburne, and Albert, and Elijah. Charles first settled on the place new owned by J. I. Hill. He next owned and built a small house upon the place which for many years was the home of E. A. Rood, and where his widow and daughter, Miss Lillian A. Rood, now reside. Adolphus owned and improved for many years the place which is now the home of S. H. Shattuck. Albert settled upon the farm now owned by W. J. Shattuck, and Elijah is still residing at his old place one mile East of the village of Covert. He first came in about the year 1858, but was absent for a year or two, and then returned. Adolphus and Albert emigrated to the West several years ago. James Tripp settled in 1861 upon the Southwest corner of the Northwest quarter of Section fourteen, and thus became the first inhabitant of what is now the village of Covert, unless his claim can be disputed by one Jenkins, who at a very early day cleared two or three acres and planted the old apple orchard now divided by the lots of Lyman Carpenter and T. H. Rood. One son, Robert Tripp, and two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Turner and Mrs. William Frarv, are now residents in the village.

ORGANIZATION. The first Township meeting was held in the house of Hiram Fish, and organized by choosing W. A. Dell, Chairman; Miram Fish and John E. Wigent, Inspectors of Election; A. G. Wigent and Miram Fish, Clerks. As the result of this meeting, the following officers were declared elected, viz.: William A. Dell, Supervisor; Miram Fish, Township Clerk: Draper Fish, Treasurer; Hiram Fish, J. E. Wigent, and Franklin Beal, Highway Commissioners; Benoni Young, A. G. Wigent, John A. Hunt, and Reuben Lee, Justices of the Peace: A. G. Wigent and William A. Dell, School Inspectors; R. Packard, Allen Fish, A. E. Wigent, and George Sinkler, Constables; and Hiram Fish and Wallace Lawson, Directors of the Poor. This. township, originally forming part of the old township of LaFavette, was included within the boundaries of South Haven by act of the State Legislature bearing date March 11, 1837. It continued as South Haven until Oct. S, 1855, when by the action of the Board of Supervisors of Van Buren County it was organized as Deerfield. The abundant game in the region led Mr. Fish to suggest the appropriateness of Deerfield as the name for the township, which name it held until Unfortunately, by act of Legislature on March 29, 1877 the 1876. name was changed to the less euphonions and far less expressive name of Covert, a title which it is doomed to carry, like Cain's mark, to all coming time. The following is a list of the Superivsors, Clerks, and Treasurers of the township from the organization until the present date.

LUMBERING. The year 1857 marks the beginning of the first steam sawmill in town, an enterprise famous for lavish expenditure, for stupid mismanagement, and ignonimous collapse. The promoters were an Eastern firm of abundant means, but unspeakably ignorant of the There is a story in connection with this undertakbusiness in hand. ing which it will answer to repeat. We have heard the legend of the gold diggings of the West, how the "tenderfoot" is taken in by the process known as salting the claim. The salting of a pine forest being a difficult problem to solve, the matter was approached from a different base; and when the representative of the aforesaid company appeared as a prospector, the point was mastered by salting the individual. The scheme involved the liberal administration of numerous agreeable and exhilarating internal applications, until our hero was able to discern three or four North poles in his compass, "but whether there were three or four he cou'd na tell," when he was taken out to view the All day long, "from rise of morn till set of sun," he was kept land. tramping through the neighboring patches of pine timber, until he returned at night with head bulging with interminable forests of pine, and bursting with navies of lumber-laden schooners. The case was won. The little water mill gave place to a structure of intricate contrivance, elaborate finish, and energy immense; but it was awkward and unmanageable as a Dutch wagon in a posy garden. This mill was built and managed under the supervision of Samuel C. Paul, a millwright and an excellent workman, but having no experience in Western lumbering, he proved a poor manager. The end of the concern was in sight almost from the beginning, and it was of course, disaster. The scene of those operations is now marked by a wide opening to which, though desolate and almost treeless, still clings the name of Paulville.

In 1867 Messrs. Hawk and Lambert came from Niles, bringing their sawmill with them, and setting it up by the creek near the Southeast corner of the Northeast quarter of Section fifteen, having purchased the quarter section the year before. They followed the business but a few months, and then sold out to Packard, Sons & Co The frame of the old sawmill is still standing, and is the nucleus of the feed mill in the village of Covert now owned by Wm. G. Packard. Early in the same year (1867) William Packard with his son William O. Packard, visited the town and made purchases of land on Section two. They bought out W. F. Conner, on the Southeast quarter of Section two, and H. B. Tyler on the North half of the Southwest quarter of Section one They purchased a portable mill from Mt. Vernon, Ohio, and in July of the same year it was set up in a little opening on the South side of the ridge on Section two, which fronts the residence of A. S. Packard on the West. Joshua Shaw and Orin S. Shaw were sent in at first to put the mill in operation, and as soon as shelter could be provided A. S. Packard and E. A. Rood came on with their wives and household effects. The latter gentleman was connected with the mill as foreman for several years. One hundred thousand feet of lumber were cut at this little mill before the close of navigation in November, 1867. The lumber was hauled on wagons, and shipped from the old Paulville Hawk's mill on Section fifteen and Packard's on Section twopier. began operations within a few days of the same date. William Packard, senior member of the firm of Packard, Sons & Co., was a man of finebusiness capacity, and large experience in the lumber business. He readily saw the possibility of this region. The company soon purchased large tracts of timbered lands, and in 1868 he secured added financial strength to the firm by the accession of his brother, Josiah Packard of Chatham, Ohio, who came on in the following year. He also at the same time effected the purchase of the Hawk and Lambert mill, at what is now the village of Covert. With the coming of the Packards. began the business prosperity of this region. Their operations soon extended over the entire township, and much of the South part of South Haven as well as the Western part of the township of Bangor. They had at one time four sawmills in operation, from which extended a network of horse railroads terminating at the lake in twosubstantial piers, the one at Ludwig's in South Haven, and the other at the month of the Brandywine Creek in old Paulville. It was no unusual thing to ship two and even three cargoes from either of these piers in a single day. There was in 1873 a sawnill at or near the Southeast corner of Section thirty-one, owned and operated for several years by O. Rich, who was much employed in cutting lumber for the Packard Ce. In connection with the business was also a fine and substantial store building, conducted and afterwards owned by Josiah Packard. His house was the one now owned and occupied by Dr. O. M. Vaughan, and the store is now the property of George Michels.

The home of William Packard, who died in 1882, is now the residence of Geo. C. Monroe. William O. Packard died in 1894, and his son, F. E. Packard, now owns and occupies the old homestead. Josiah Packard, returned to Ohio, where he died in 1895. A. S. Packard still remains at his old home, and is largely engaged in peach culture.

Covert, like most towns which had their origin in the lumber business, has passed through its period of depression. The busy mills with their life and ceaseless clangor are gone; their owners no more walk our streets, and the mighty forests have been swept from the whole region. But there are signs of change, and awakening to a slower but more permanent growth. In place of the forests are coming farms and extensive orchards, and many a rural home, and would that the glad day may soon come of peace instead of turmoil, of refinement where once all was wild, of plenty in place of unscrupulous greed, and of justice and hope for all.

CHURCHES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC. The first church organization in the township was that of the Christian denomination, which was formed in the year 1864, in the Southwest part of the town. They afterward held meetings at stated intervals in the schoolhouse at the village, and were ministered to by Elder Winch, since of Bangor. In the year 1870 was formed the First Congregational Church of Covert, a history of which will be given in another article.

LOCAL OPTION. At the first election upon this issue held in Van Buren County, in 1887, Covert gave a strong majority in the affirmative, and at each trial since, has firmly held its position against the saloon power. In anticipation of the last effort of the liquor league, a meeting of the citizens of the town was convened in S. D. Kenney's hall on the evening of Sept. 13, 1897, which was addressed by W. B. Wheeler of Cleveland, Ohio, after which followed the organization of the Covert Anti-Saloon League, auxiliary to the Anti-Saloon League of the This society proved very efficient in arousing state of Michigan. the temprance sentiment of the township previous to the election, and it is still in working condition. The present officers are S. D. Kenney, President; H. J. Teitsworth, Vice-President; T. H. Rood, Treasurer; T. B. Randall, Secretary. Vice-Presidents in school districts: District No. 1, W. F. SOLDIERS OF THE CIVIL WAR. The George Allen Post, No. 357, was mustered in on April 14, 1886, with a membership of seventeen. The following officers were elected, viz.: Commander, C. E. Lockwood; Senior Vice-Commander, Jacob Gunsaul; Junior Vice-Commander, Wm. F. Conner; Quartermaster, P. L. Mason, Adam Bowman, Geo. Stanley, and I. W. Wade.

COLORED MASONIC LODGE. Covert Lodge F. A. Y. M., No. 19 (but since changed to No. 1), was organized in Grange Hall Jan. 26, 1882. The following is a list of the charter members: W. F. Conner, W. M., J. W. Jones, S. W., H. B. Tyler, J. W., Lorenzo Pompey, S. D., Benjamin Gowens, J. D., Edward Carle, Sec., Wm. Jones, Treas., G. Singer, Tiler. This lodge is still in good order and has some of the best furniture of any in the state, and it is the only one of the Compacted Masons of 1784 that did not go over to the State Rights Lodge.

This body organized a lodge in Grand Rapids Sept. 16, 1897. Covert lodge is a prosperous organization, and still holds its gatherings in Grange Hall. The present officers are: J. A. Dungill, W. M., P. D. Jones, S. W., L. M. Gowens, J. W., John Conner, Treas., W. F. Conner, Sec., Benj. Gowens, S. D., H. B. Tyler, J. D., Henry Irving, Tiler.

GRANGERS. Beehive Grange, No. 158, P. of H. was organized Dec. 16, 1873. They still hold on the even tenor of their way, and now while entering upon their twenty-fifth year with recent accessions to their numbers are still holding their gatherings in the old building known as Grange Hall. The present officers are: G. H. Barker, Master; J. A. Hunt, Overseer; Wm. F. Conner, Lecturer; Earnest H. Barker, Steward; Mearl Hunt, Assistant Steward; Geo. C. Monroe, Chaplain; V. H. Randall, Treasurer; Mrs. G. H. Barker, Secretary; Benj. Gowens, Gatekeeper; Clara Conner, Lady Assistant Steward; Grace A. Barker, Pomona; Mrs. J. A. Hunt, Flora; Zilpha V. Barker, Ceres; T. A. Lampson, Sub.

PHYSICIANS. The first resident physician in the village of Covert was Dr. Charles J. Logie, who came about the year 1873 and remained until 1876. He was a young man of fine presence and was well equipped for his profession.

In 1876 Dr. Geo. D. Carnes succeeded Dr. Logie, having bought his ride and good will. Dr. Carnes remained here in successful practice until 1883, when he removed to his present location in South Haven, where he has won a competence, and, what is more, a wide reputation as a master in his profession.

Dr. O. M. Vaughan came from Bangor to Covert in 1883. He has resided in Van Buren County since his boyhood, is a regularly educated physician, has won a wide practice, and is well known throughout this region. He is a director of the Citizens' Bank of South Haven, and is one of Covert's most successful business men.

Dr. Osmer Letson has resided in the village about twelve years. He was a soldier in the war of the Rebellion, and was much employed in hospital service. Since that time he has practiced much as a physician, his specialty being diseases of a chronic nature.

Dr. Henry Marvin, who was a surgeon in the army during the Civil War, commenced practice in Coloma, Berrien County, but several years ago moved to his farm on the Southwest quarter of Section twenty-two. His removal did not take him out of the limits of his ride, and his practice has since been mostly in that direction.

LAWYERS. W. P. Traphagen, Esq., came into the town early in the year 1890. He is a good counselor; has served the township in various offices, and has proved himself to be a thorough temperance man, and a terror to evil-doers. He owns and occupies the premises in the West part of the village known as the Tambling lot, and has his office rooms over Michels' store. PUBLIC MEN. William Packard served one term as Representative in State Legislature. Wm. O. Packard served one term as State Senator. Geo. H. Barker served his town as Supervisor thirteen years. Jacob Gunsaul served as Supervisor nine years. George Grant has served as Supervisor seven years. In 1888 Rev. David Rood returned to his native land from a long residence in Africa. He came directly to Covert, that he might be near his two remaining brothers, T. H. Rood and E. A. Rood. He bought a pleasant little home in the North part of the village, where he lived but a few months until he died. He was one of the pioneers of the Zulu Mission. The following is copied from his monument now standing in the village cemetery.

"Rev. David Rood, born in Buckland, Mass., Apr. 25, 1818; died in Covert, Mich., Apr. 8, 1891. Missionary of the A. B. C. F. M. among the Zulus of Natal, South Africa, for 40 years. Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints. At home."

MERCHANTS. S. D. Kenney, dealer in dry-goods, groceries, and general merchandise, has kept his present location for twenty-one years. He first commenced in a small way, dealing in meat, adding candies and notions. As trade increased, he disposed of his meat business, turning it over to George Michels, enlarged his building, and confined himself to his present line. In 1888 he found it necessary to haul away his old store and put up the large and commodious building which he now occupies. He carries a full line of excellent goods, and enjoys a flourishing trade. Kenney's hall on the second floor is the finest in town.

J. Gunsaul and Son, dealers in groceries, hardware, and general merchandise, have a good location on the East side of the street, opposite Michels' store. They have a fine building, in which are the post-office, a private telephone, and a station on the long-distance telephone line running from South Haven to Kalamazoo. They enjoy a good trade.

George Michels, meat market and general merchandise. At an early date Sebastian Michels kept a meat market at the village. He was joined in 1873 by his brother George Michels, who shortly succeeded to the full proprietorship, and carried on the business at the old stand until 1885, when he bought the old store building of Josiah Packard, which he now occupies. He eventually transferred his meat market to the basement of the same building. In 1895 he enlarged his building, by adding at the West end a fine meat market with large and costly refrigerating rooms. He carries a line of goods and groceries in connection with his market, and has his share of patronage.

HARDWARE. Theodore Eisenlohr bought in 1897 the old hardware building, and carries a line of hardware, drugs, and medicines.

GROCERIES. George Morgan and Son commenced at the stand on the Northeast corner, known as the old Drag Store, in 1896, and deal in groceries and mill feed.

W. I. Baxter, wagon-making and blacksmithing, with Frank Ludwig

Schools. Private schools were maintained at a very early date. One was supported by Matthias Farnum at or near his home on Section There was another, of which the following is an account, "The eight. earliest schoolhouse was built in the neighborhood of Mr. Dobbyn's farm, by the side of the highway, on Section thirty-three. The young lady who guided the youthful minds of Covert at this early day was Miss Geraldine Taft, who had just attained the age of fourteen summers, maturity of years not being deemed an essential element in the qualifications of a primary school teacher. The years of her oldest pupil fully equaled her own, while the youngest had seen but four The pupils at this early school were Josephine Lee, Henry summers. Wigent, Violetta Wigent, John Dobbyn, Jane Dobbyn, Emma Dell, Isabella Dobbyn, William Lee, David Lee, William Wigent, Richard Dobbyn, Lita Fish, Mary Dell, Sarah J. Dobbyn, and Solon Ingraham."

The first district schoolhouse was built on the East side of the highway near the center of the West line of Section thirty-five. Here was taught the first public primary school. The teacher being a bright young lady, who afterwards became the wife of O. W. Rowland, Esq., now of Paw Paw, a gentleman not unknown to Van Buren County fame.

THE PEACH. Peach culture is a growing industry of the township. Annually thousands of trees are planted, and throughout what is known as the peach belt of this vicinity, it is fast coming to be the prevailing occupation. Like many other employments, it calls into service good business capacity, skill, constant watchfulness, constant application, and untiring toil. To those who accept the terms, there is often a fair reward. Many who are entering the business, are probably doomed to disappointment; for there is no royal road to prosperity in peach culture.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The First Congregational Church of Covert was organized Sept. 27, 1870, with twenty members. The organization took place in a new barn. This was used but a short time, when a new schoolhouse was completed and used for church services for three years, when, as a result of a revival, these quarters became too small, and Packard's hall was used. Nov. 5, 1879 the commodious and beautiful church here illustrated was dedicated.

PASTORS. Rev. A. M. Rice, 1874: Moses Hawley, 1872; F. W. Bush, 1873-1877; E. J. Aldon, 1877-1879; L. P. Spelman, 1879-1885; John Jeffries, 1885-1893; Edward G. Palmer, 1894-1896; E. D. Bostwick, 1896-1897; the church now numbers 124 members, with a new pastor, Rev. John P. Barrett, who came to this church in November, 1897.

As already stated, the Sunday-school was organized before the church, or in 1868, under the leadership of D. B. Allen, who labored earnestly and faithfully until September, 1885, when he went away from us. Mr. A S Packard then took up the work and carried it along with increasing interest until March. 1896, Mr Allen having returned, was persuaded to take up the work again The other societies connected with the church are as follows: Ladies' Missionary Society, Sarah E. Shaw, President; Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, Ernest H. Barker, President; Junior Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, Lillian A. Rood, President.

SEVENTH.DAY ADVENT CHURCH.

Etta Teachout. Thinteen members were added July 18, and seven Sept. 6, 1891. Eleven members were added on April 1, 1892. The church has prospered and increased in numbers till at one time there were eighty-four members. Twelve members have been dropped from the roll. Eight members moved away and united with the Benton Harbor Church. Twenty-five members united with the Toquin Church. Two members died, one Jan. 12, 1893, and one May, 1897. Thirty-seven members now belong to the church. Officers are: Elder, A. B. Castle; Clerk, C. H. Castle; Deacon, J. E. Rogers; Librarian, C. H. Castle; Treasurer, Dr. O. Letson. Meeting and Sabbath-school are held every Sabbath in the church.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENT CHURCH.

Covert Church was raised through the labors of F. I. Richardson and John F. Ballenger in the spring and summer of 1891. The church building was built the same summer, John F. Ballenger furnishing the money to build it. The money was raised by donations, John F. Ballenger was paid, and he deeded the church property to the Michigan State Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, and the church was dedicated to the Lord the twelfth day of July, 1891. The Covert Church was organized on the same day, with eleven members. The following were the officers: Elder, H. E. Olmstead: Assistant Leader, Ella Photo. by Moyer & Hops ins. ### HISTORY OF COVERT SCHOOL.

In 1867 school was kept in Mrs. Hawk's house, and the next year a rude building was erected which served as a schoolhouse till 1870; when the present building was opened tor use. The first pupils were Josie, Alice, and Alma Bunnell. Cora and Ida Fa.vk, Effie and Lillian Tripp, and Farny Stevens. Mrs. O'Lery was the first teacher. She was succeeded by Eva Rood, now Mrs. Shattuck. Milan Packard taught the tirst term in the new schoolhouse and A. N. Ballou the next. They were followed by Blanche and Josie Seymour and Miss Curtiss. Under their direction the school did good wook. The next teacher was Mr. Pleasant, whose reign was very short. The second room, now the middle one, was built on, and Miss Moore and Miss Sarah Shaw governed the increased number of pupils. Then Mr. E. A. Hartman and Agnes Moulthrop took charge of the school, and Luella Ballou took the newly organized primary department, in a building formerly occupied by Dr. Carnes. This building was moved, enlarged, and Joined to the east end of the schoolhouse about nine years ago. The school has three teachers each year now. A. V. Howe, T. B. Randall, DeForest Ross, Miss Finch, and Loren Curtiss in turn took charge of the high school. Leola Glover, Flora Rood, Mrs. Ross Ella Vaughan, Susie Rood, Nellie Drury, Emma Lang, and Alma Smith taught the primary and intermediate rooms. At present, in the year 1898, F. N. Wakeman is principal, and Mrs. Wakeman and Fena Lang, assistants. The school population has grown in thirty years from six to one hundred and seventy-six, and the fourth addition to the schoolhouse was made in 1897. The school hoard for 1897-8 is composed of T. A. Lampson, George Michels, George C. Monroe, O. M. Yaughan, and F E. Packard.

ORIN S. SHAW.

ORIN S. SHAW.

Orin S. Shaw commenced life in Plainfield, Mass. in 1825, and moved with his parents to Chatham, Ohio in the year 1833. He attended the neighboring district school, and when grown up taught school several years, and then bought a farm, which he managed till 1859, when he sold out and went with Wm. Packard to Ganges, Mich. to start a sawmill. They took their machinery across the lake from Chicago to the mouth of the Kalamazoo River, and thence down the shore to the mouth of the Crawford, near Glenn Pier. Here they set up the sawmill and ran it in partnership for three years, when Mr. Shaw sold his interest in the company. He went to Covert in 1867 and started another sawmill in the Northeast part of the township, where A. S. Packard now lives. He boarded at first with Levi Friend, who possessed a log house with one room, with one small pane of glass for a window. He was engineer at this sawmill for two years and then, having a farm of one hundred acres in Ohio, went there to look after it. His health failing, he sold the farm and came back to Covert in 1871, setting up a sawmill for the Packards in the village of Covert, and becoming head sawyer. A fine hemlock splinter lodged in his left eve one day, which ultimately caused the loss of it, and weakened the other. He now gave ap work in the mill, and commenced farming, soon becoming a leading fruitgrower, and is following this occupation at present. When a voung man in Ohio he did some work with a surveyor's compass, and has There is hardly a line in done considerable in that line ever since. Covert that he has not run over; his talents being of especial value when rival companies were cutting timber close to a line. When the railroad was run through Covert he set the grade stakes on the curves, and, though he had never done such work before, performed it without an error, though the graders south of the village pulled up one set of stakes on a curve and set them over-"because they didn't look right" -and thus made a reversed curve, which is there to this day. Mr. Shaw was married in 1847 to Cornelia W. Packard, and on Oct. 17, 1897 celebrated his golden wedding with a small family party. They are the parents of four daughters-Ellen C., Sarah, Helen M. Smith, and E. Mabel.

T. H. ROOD.

T. H. ROOD.

T. H. Rood is a native of New England, his birthplace being Plainfield, Massachusetts. He was born June 8, 1833; received a fair education in the nearest district school, and commenced active work on a farm, following this profession for nearly twenty years. On Jan. 1, 1857 he married Martha Snell, a second consin of William Cullen Bryant, and to this day recalls many pleasant hours spent in the company of that most noted poet. Mr. Rood visited his old home in the fall of 1897, finding it and the Bryant homestead, a short distance away, very much as he had left them nearly thirty years ago. He removed to Covert Township in 1869, with his family, and commenced work in the North mill, being occupied there till 1875, when he moved to the village and became foreman for Packard & Co. He bought forty acres of nice land a quarter of a mile south of the village, but did not become interested in farming it till 1891, when the lumber interests of the town began to be Mr. Rood now has about half of his overshadowed by fruit-growing. farm set to fruit, and takes much pride in the fine appearance of the place, at the same time causing it to afford a good income. He is also owner of a farm two miles south, which is at present as nature made it, but which is destined to become a valuable piece of property. Mr. Rood takes an active part in the work of the Congregational Church in Covert, and in all enterprises of a public nature stands ready to do his share. He has been Treasurer of the township for two terms, and would have had further political honors but for his excessive modesty. He has four daughters-Vesta A., Mary A., who is his mainstay at home since the death of Mrs. Rood; Flora I., now Mrs. C. T. Wickes, and Susie M., wife of Robert G. Ballou of Covert. He was a brother of E. A. Rood, always one of the foremost citizens of Covert, who died only a year ago, and of David Rood the well-known missionary.

LYMAN A. CARPENTER.

MRS. L. A. CARPENTER

Lyman A. Carpenter was born in St. Marys, Canada in 1844<sup>2</sup> He moved with his parents to Bloomington, Ill. in 1851, and lived there till eighteen years old, spending his entire time in labor on the farm; not enjoying the usual winter term of school. He came to Michigan in 1862, and spent four years lumbering near Covert and Paulville. In 1866 he married Lucy Kenney, and spent the next three years: railroading and doing miscellaneous business in Iowa, Illinois, and Missouri. He returned to Michigan on account of his father's failing health, and commenced jobbing in lumber for the Packards. He employed five teams the entire season, spending five summers at Paulville pier. He commenced general farming in 1886, and fruitgrowing in 1888, now having one-half of his 140 acres set to fruit.

Lucy Kenney Carpenter was born in Canada, May 27, 1851, and came to Covert with her father, Wm. Kenney, in 1860. She attended school in the log schoolhouse one mile west of the village, and was married in her sixteenth year to L. A. Carpenter. She has two sons living— Chester, aged twenty-one; and George, aged thirteen. Mrs. Carpenterhas a natural aptitude for business matters, and takes a keen interest in fruit-growing, making a good partner in her husband's chosen profession of horticulture. They are growers of all kinds of small and tree fruits, and each year seek wider markets for their choice products. In a few years they will be able to turn active business over to their children and retire to well-earned enjoyment in their beautiful home.

CHESTER CARPENTER.

MRS. C. CARPENTER.

Chester Carpenter is the oldest son of Lyman A. and Lucy Carpenter, and was born in Covert, June 24, 1877. He graduated from the high school when fifteen years of age; passed a teacher's examination at Paw Paw, and then spent three years at Olivet College. He took front rank in his studies, and on account of his strength and activity was sought for in athletic games. He returned home in 1895, and immediately became a valuable assistant on his father's farm, taking a half interest in a forty acres on which he lives. Besides fruit-growing he is extensively engaged in stock-feeding, thus occupying his spare time in the winter. He was married in July, 1896 to Bertha Mix, and now lives in an elegant new home one mile west of the village.

Bertha Mix Carpenter is the daughter of J. W. Mix of Covert, and came here from Ohio when twelve years of age. She graduated from the high school in the same class as her husband and then devoted herself to her music, being now an accomplished and pleasing singer and planist. She takes an active interest in fruit-growing, and with her husband is a prominent worker in the Congregational Church.

A. S. Packard lives on his old home farm about three miles Northeast of Covert village. He is engaged in raising peaches, pears, and plums. A specialty is made of grading the fruits into firsts, choice, and selects for market. He also has one thousand acres of choice fruit and farming lands in Covert and South Haven Townships, most of which is offered for sale at fair terms and prices. These lands are new, and Covert claims equal advantages to any township in the state for raising fine fruits. In addition to land in Covert and South Haven, six hundred acres in Charlevoix County are held by Mr. Packard for sale on extremely low terms for cash.

Mrs. GEORGE A. SHEREURNE.

GEORGE A. SHERBURNE.

George A. Sherbarne is a native of the Green Mountain State, first opening his eves in Glover, Vermont, in the year 1841. He went with his parents to Wisconsin when four years old, attending school in the neighboring Walworth Academy. On leaving school he began work on the home farm, but left when twenty to enter the army, enlisting in Company K., 13th Wisconsin Infantry. He immediately saw active service, and was severely wounded in three months, being obliged to return home. He came to Covert in the winter of 1863-4 prospecting, and as a result of his good judgment took back to Wisconsin a partner, who has been a faithful and loving helper for over thirty-three years. Mary J. Sherburne is a daughter of Wm. Kenney, and was born in Canada on April 21, 1849, coming to Covert when eleven years of age. She attended school in the old log schoolhouse west of the village, and was married before she was out of her teens. Mr. Sherburne remained in Wisconsin five years, when he returned to Covert and commenced operating in lumber. Not liking life in the woods, he left after three years and went to Minnesota, where he managed a large farm, while his wife was conducting a millinery establishment. After a short stay in Wisconsin he moved to Sonth Haven, Mich. in 1892, and with his wife took an active interest in the new department store of J. W. Kenney. They remained in South Haven for three years, but found that the close confinement of the store was not conducive to their health. So in 1895 they removed to their fruit farm in Covert, leaving hosts of friends in the growing burg. They have three daughters, all of whom are married and gone from the homestead. Nettie M. Day lives in Butte, Montana, Vena B. Welo and Mamie Marvin are in Chicago. Charles C., aged four years, is still at home.

Mrs. GEO. W. LESLIE.

GEO. W. LESLIE,

Geo. W. Leslie, the voungest of a family of seven children, was born March 25, 1845. His parents, who were Scotch Presbyterians, came to this country in 1831, and settled in Cambria County, Pennsylvania. It was here among the hills that he spent his first twenty-three years. Life on a farm in such a country and such a climate tended to develop the sturdy nature which he inherited. School advantages were limited, but he managed to get such an education as could be obtained in the district school. Wishing to get away from the hardships of farm life on the hills, he started for the West in the spring of 1868. He finally located for a time in Ganges, Allegan County, Mich., latergoing to Covert, Van Buren County, where he was an employee of the Packards for ten years. During this time he purchased a piece of wild land of eighty acres. Later in these years he bought twenty acres of cleared land. He began farming in 1882. At present he has one hundred twenty-nine and a half acres in Covert and South Haven townships. He took his first step into the realm of fruit-culture by setting out a small peach orchard in 1885. Since, he has added to this orchard and set other kinds of fruit, until he now has twentyseven acres in fruit-peach, pear, plum, cherry, and apple trees, besides. a variety of small fruit. His success as a fruit-raiser has been due to quality of the fruit produced, and to the fact that he is able to give his personal attention to the harvesting and marketing of all, not having to trust to the care of others not so much interested. Some fruitgrowers may have hid greater success in a certain year; he stands among those who, taking all the years together, can write over them. Success.

T. A. LAMPSON.

T. A. Lampson is proprietor of the "Alert Fruit Farms." Having about forty-five acres in fruit, largely peach and plum, we guarantee everything as represented, or purchase money refunded. This is our business motto, to give "honest goods for honest money." We propose to grow fancy fruit and solicit the fancy trade. Having about thirty-five varieties of peach, we will be able to fill orders from the earliest to the latest.

Lampson & Rood have for several years been associated together in the nursery business, and have always made the PEACH a specialty. In growing our peach nurseries we give them our utmost care from the time the seed is procured, usually from Tennessee, to the time the deliveries are made. We regard the matter of keeping the varieties true to name, and free from disease, of paramount importance. In choosing our buds for the various varieties we take them from the trees bearing the largest and best fruit, and always keep a record of the origin of each variety; we then grow as good a tree as possible. We never have been able to grow all we can sell, and have handled nursery stock from neighboring nurservmen and from the best and most reliable nurserymen in Ohio and New York. In buying we use as much care as possible to have everything right, and now by state laws all nursery stock has to be inspected. We hope this will be beneficial both to fruit-growers and nurserymen. While the peach is our specialty, we furnish all trees and plants needed by fruit-growers, at very reasonable prices. Address Lampson & Rood, Covert, Mich.

FRANK E. ROOD.

Frank E. Rood is Superintendent of "Prospect Ridge Farm." Particular attention is given to fruit-growing. There are about fifty acres of fruit, mostly young orchards, just in their prime. We solicit trade with grocerymen and fruit-dealers where certain amounts can be sent direct daily. We grow nearly all of the berries, and our peaches ripen in almost a continuous succession, commencing the latter part of July, closing about Nov. 1. After peaches we have the leading varieties of winter apples, also pears in their season. We use a fruitgrader, so the different grades bear the same mark the season through. Each package is guaranteed as represented.

GEORGE C. MONROE.

Geo. C. Monroe is the second son of Charles J. and Hattie Mouroe of South Haven, and was born in that town Feb. 20, 1871, attending the union school in the village, graduating from the high school in 1887. He then entered the Agricultural College, and graduated with the class of 1891, holding in both high school and college the honorable position of class president. He taught school in the Garden of Eden, Arlington Township, in the winter of 1888-9. Since leaving college he has engaged in farming, real estate, and surveying in both South Haven and Covert, removing to Covert for a permanent residence in He was immediately elected secretary of the McKinley June, 1896. Club, in the spring of 1897 was elected Justice of the Peace, and in July, Director of the graded school. He is interested in several South Haven enterprises, being Secretary and Director of a dock company, and also of the Hotel Columbus, and is a Director of the First State Bank.

He was married Feb. 14, 1894 to Helen C. Smith, a niece of Joshua Smith, the proprietor of Sleepy Hollow. Mrs. Monroe was born in Germany, coming to America with her family twelve years ago, living in Chicago till 1888, when she came with her uncle to South Haven. They have one child, George Smith Monroe, now three years old, who is a great source of pride to his parents. Mr. Monroe is interested with his family in farming and fruit-growing in Covert, having over 400 acres of improved land, over 100 acres of fruit in bearing, and a stock farm of 2,000 acres, which they have commenced to improve, all under his supervision. He has 12,000 peach trees to set in the spring of 1898, having unbounded faith in the future of that luscious fruit.

JACOB GUNSAUL.

Jacob Gunsaul is the popular Postmaster at Covert, and has been Supervisor of Covert Township, Van Buren County nine years in succession. His residence in the place dates from November, 1871, he being one of the earliest settlers of that town."He was born in Guilford Township, Medina County, Ohio, Oct. 10, 1840, and is a son of Benjamin and Catherine (Long) Gunsaul, natives of Pennsylvania. His parents were married in their native state, and removed to Medina County, Ohio, where his father died at the age of sixty-three. The mother is still living at Chatham, Ohio. They reared a family of thirteen children, of whom our

The war of the Rebellion was at that time being waged, and two days after his marriage, on Aug. 11, Mr. Gunsaul left his young bride and enlisted in Company B, Nineteenth Michigan Infantry, going at once to Cincinnati and from there to Chattanooga. The cry was then, "On to Richmond," and with his command he took part in the battle of Spring Hill, March 4, 1863. He was taken prisoner and held for one month, being in Libby Prison two weeks. He was Corporal of his company. After being released from prison he went home, when he was called back, soon afterward taking part in the campaigns from Chattanooga to Atlanta. He marched with Gen. Sherman to the sea, thence to Washington. He was in thirteen regular engagements. On his discharge from the army, June 10, 1865, Mr. Gunsaul returned to Allegan County, Mich. In 1871 he removed to Covert and purchased property there. He has held appointment as Postmaster several years, and also carries on a grocerv business, and is one of the leading men of the place. He has one child, a son, Charles, who was born August 20, 1867. In politics Mr. Gunsaul is a Republican. He was Treasurer of Covert for two years. He is a member of George Allen Post, No. 351, G. A. R., of which he has been Post-Commander. He also belongs to the Independent Order of Good Templars. He is an active member of the Temperance Club, which is an organization formed for the purpose of enforcing the laws controlling the liquor traffic. Mr. Gunsaul is a man of great force of character, and believes that whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well.

GEORGE W. MORGAN.

Geo. W. Morgan was born in Wyandotte County, Ohio in 1841. He entered the Union army in 1862 as a member of the 7th Independent Ohio Sharpshooters, remaining with the company for two years and nine months and participating in numerous battles. He was never wounded, which is explained by the fact that he did not then present such a broad front to the enemy as he would be obliged to at this time. On leaving the army he attended district school for a short time, and then learned the blacksmith's trade, practicing it for one year in Hancock County, Ohio. He moved to Bangor, Mich. in 1866 and opened a shoeshop, which he managed for three years, then returning to his first business and running a blacksmith shop for the next six years. He operated a farm in the Western part of Bangor Township, and also did blacksmithing for A. S. Packard in Northeast Covert about the year 1880. Mr. Morgan moved back to his Bangor farm in 1883, selling out in 1886 and coming to Covert. He became owner of the village blacksmith shop in 1890, and ran it successfully for six years, when he sold out to W. I. Baxter, and opened a grocery, flour, and feed store in the Odd Fellows' building on the Northeast corner of the public square, where he enjoys a steadily increasing business. He was married in February, 1867 to Mary Smith, and has two children-Clarissa M., wife of Hiram Norton; and James Thomas, who assists his father in the management of a forty-acre farm in the "huckleberry swamp," which is rapidly becoming one of the richest sections of the township.

S. D. KENNEY.

S. D. Kenney has lived most of his forty-five years in Covert, coming here from Canada with his parents in 1860. They were starting a home in the wilderness and could not give their children many school advantages. The woods between Covert and the lake afforded fine pasturage for cattle, and young Samuel's chief occupation was to keep his father's cows from becoming lost in the hills near Paulville. As soon as he reached the age of twenty-one he commenced lumbering in a small way, and has carried on this as a secondary business ever since. He started a small store in 1877, and in 1888 found his business so increased as to demand a new building. He now has a large store, dealing in general merchandise, doing a splendid cash business, and increasing so that he will soon be compelled to add more room. On the upper floor is a large hall fitted up as an Opera House. Mr. Kenney is the possessor of a deep well affording an abundance of pure water and which is distributed by pipes to most of the stores and to This was the first water-works system some residences in the village. in Van Buren County. South of the village he has one of the model fruit farms of the township, and has over a hundred acres of unimproved peach land on the bank of Lake Michigan, four miles southwest. Mr. Kenney has always believed in the future prosperity of Covert, and is ready to push any enterprise of a public nature. He was married in 1874 to Carrie Shattuck, daughter of one of Covert's leading citizens, W. J. Shattuck. To them were born two daughters, Edna in 1877, and Ada in 1881, both of whom are valuable assistants. in the store.

GEORGE MICHELS.

George Michels was born in Ontario, Canada in 1847, came to St. Clair County, Mich., into the lumber woods, with his parents in 1859. Moved to Cass County in 1860. Moved into the woods near Bangor, Van Buren County in 1861; there helped to clear his father's farm, until at the age of twenty-one. He commenced to go to school at the age of nine years, and at the age of twenty-one had put in a total school attendance of less than eighteen months. Worked by the month two years. Married Adaline Hodges of Watervliet in 1870. Worked rented farms three years. Came to Covert in 1873, and went in debt $400.00 to J. W. Reed for a lot to build a meat market upon. He commenced meat business with his brother, Sebastian, both together having a borrowed capital of $400. He now began to feel the sharp points of no education prodding him into such mental and physical exertion as few have experienced. Tending shop, buying stock, peddling meat in daytime, and doing the butchering nights. Finding the small business could not support two families, he bought his brother's interest in 1874, assuming debts to the amount of $600.00. His wife died in 1875, leaving him with two small children. He was married to Marietta Lamott in 1876. In 1882 he had paid all debts, and bought forty acres of land, paving $1,400.00 cash therefor. In 1885 he bought the Packard store and stock of goods with four lots for $4,500.00, going in debt considerable, which kept him grinding the best part of ten years to pay. We take a look at him again in 1898 and find him giving personal attention to a twenty-acre fruit farm, sixty acres of all-round farm lands, a good meat market, a store of dry goods, groceries, boots, and shoes, and general sundries. He has been a member of the Board of Education for twelve years.

A. N. BALLOU.

A. N. Ballou was born in Portage County, Ohio in 1841. He enjoyed the usual advantages of a district school education, working hard during the summer months on his father's farm. For several years after attaining his majority he occupied himself in the manufacture of cheese. This pursuit, however, proved too prosy, and he left his home county for broader fields of labor. He came to Covert on Washington's Birthday in the year 1872, where he has successfully carried on a number of business enterprises. He taught the village school for a year, and then commenced dealing in pine and hardwood lands, also buying and selling lumber, wood, and bark. For some time he was connected with the Packard store in the village. He has supervised several farms. At present he is an extensive buyer of fruit during the season, and conducts a large Real Estate Agency.

In 1842, at Chatham, Ohio, occurred the birth of Julia W. Allen, who in 1864 became Mrs. Ballou, and who has been his companion and helpmeet for thirty-four years. To them have been born four children —Luella, Fred A., Robert G., and Newton E. Luella is married and Fred is a stock-raiser in the West, Robert is a fruit-grower at Covert, and Newton is a practicing dentist.
